OLLIE ROBERTS GOT DRUNK ON GILLASPY'S $10

She Has Declined Ticket to Los Angeles Offered by the Police.

SORRY SHE LEFT PRISON

"Police Won't Let Me Be Good or Bad Either," She Complains.

HAS CHANCE TO GO BACK

President Stewart Says Such Will Be Her Lot Unless She Behaves.

Ollie Roberts, who was last before the public when she was arrested by two experienced policemen, who said that she was drunk on the street, and released within fifteen minutes by a police lieutenant, who said she was sober, has just been ordered by the police to leave St. Louis.

Chief Gillaspy said to a Post-Dispatch reporter Tuesday: "Ollie Roberts is an elephant on my hands. I have done everything in my power to get rid of her. She is as stubborn as a mule. I have offered to buy her a ticket anywhere, and have told her that I would accompany her to any suburban depot and see that she got away quietly. I have assured her that the police would not molest her, but she has refused all my offers.

Got Drunk on Chief's $10.

"She demands money, and I won't give it to her. She wants $100 to cover the expenses of her trip from Los Angeles here. I won't give her a cent. I gave her $10 Thursday night, and before morning she was arrested on the street on the charge of being drunk. This indicates to me that she cannot be trusted with money.

"I don't know what to do with her. I am going to put the matter up to the board."

Ever since the Police Board finished with her as a witness in the Monahan case, attempts have been made to induce her to return to Los Angeles, where she was staying with relatives when she was called back to testify. Inspector McDonnell and Sergt. Woodling, recognized as officers detailed to Police Board duty, have called to see her a number of times at 721 North Twenty-first street, where she has been staying with Lou Roberts, whose house is contrary to an ordinance that is not enforced.

They have offered her the $100 which, she says, she borrowed from her sister to come to St. Louis, have agreed to pay her expenses while here and to provide transportation for her back to Los Angeles. She has persistently refused their offers, and has demanded that, in lieu of a railroad ticket, they give her money and permit her to go wherever she pleases.

Sergt. Woodling returned to the house Monday afternoon and renewed the offer which had been made before. She again declined a railroad ticket and demanded money instead.

The police are unwilling to grant her wish because they want her to go back to Los Angeles, where they can keep track of her. For perhaps the same reason she doesn't want to go back there.

Telephones to the Chief.

When she refused Monday Sergt. Woodling told Lou Roberts she would have to get rid of her guest and asked Ollie Roberts if she could not get ready by noon Tuesday to start for California. She again declined the offer of a ticket.

Later she called up Chief Gillaspy and asked him when she had to leave Lou Roberts' house. He told her he would not hurry her, but that he wanted her to leave as soon as she could. She again asked for money instead of a railroad ticket, and the request was again refused. Later she left the Twenty-first street house to avoid causing trouble for Lou Roberts.

Since the episode of early Friday morning, when the woman was arrested at Thirteenth and Pine streets, on the charge of being drunk, Chief Gillaspy ordered all captains to instruct their men to arrest Ollie Roberts for violations of the ordinances, the same as any other person, and send her into court.

Ollie Roberts was released from the Penitentiary, where she was serving a 10-years' sentence for killing a man, on condition that she "obey the laws of the State." The pardon provides that if she fails to obey the law she may be returned to the Penitentiary at any time on the order of the Governor. The Governor has said in cases of a like nature that a released convict should be returned when shown to have violated any law.

When the question came up some time ago, the Governor said Ollie Roberts would not be returned to the Penitentiary as long as her testimony was needed in St. Louis.

When Gov. Folk, who is at Pertle Springs, was asked Tuesday by a Post-Dispatch correspondent what was going to be done with Ollie Roberts, he smiled and said President Stewart of the Police Board would answer the question.

President Stewart was seen at Pertle Springs, where he is attending the Presbyterian State Sunday-school assembly. He said: "What will be done with Ollie Roberts depends upon her own actions. She was released from the Penitentiary, as I understand it, on the condition of good behavior. If she doesn't behave right and comply with every condition of her release, she will certainly be returned to the Penitentiary."

A Post-Dispatch reporter found Ollie Roberts at the home of a respectable woman, who thinks she is acting the good samaritan in sheltering her. Ollie Roberts was inclined to rail at fate and at the police.

"I have been ordered to leave

WATER TEARS MACADAM WHEN MAIN BURSTS

Chestnut Street Is Torn Up by Flood That Spreads for Blocks.

HOLES TORN IN PAVING

Street Undulated Like Waves and Caused Thoughts of Earthquake.

BASEMENT IS FLOODED

Sewers Prove Inadequate to Carry Off the Flood Which Arose as From Springs.

The breaking of an eight-inch water main in Chestnut street, east of Ninth street, at 10:40 a. m. Tuesday, converted the street into a river and ripped the bituminous macadam paving in an irregular line for half a block and made the whole surface undulate as though it were water itself.

The water gushed through rents in the street covering and filled the gutters for several blocks in all directions. The water department was immediately notified, but it was more than 40 minutes before the supply could be shut off and steps taken to repair the break.

Policeman Stinger, the driver of the police automobile patrol, was standing on the corner of Ninth and Chestnut streets when the break was first noticed. He observed the top covering of the bituminous macadam moving and writhing under the pressure, and he was astonished beyond belief. He thought of the San Francisco earthquake, and was expecting to hear the rumble of some subterranean disturbance.

In a moment the water ripped its way through the street and then the cause was apparent. Stinger promptly telephoned the water department, and took his stand to prevent traffic on the street.

Pavement Is Torn Up.

The water spread for half a block under the top covering of the street, raising the thick coating as high as two feet in places before the water forced its way through. Then the size of the streams steadily increased and the number of breaks in the street became more frequent.

A spectator could not tell where the break was. The water flowed through the surface of the street as from a hundred springs. The largest opening was on the sluth side of the street, in front of the new store building of N. O. Nelson & Co. The opening ripped here was about 18 inches long and eight inches wide. The water boiled up through this hole about a foot and then flowed westward.

The sewer openings at the corners of the streets on both sides of Chestnut street at Eighth and Ninth streets were not large enough to carry away the water and it swirled around in a rapid stream and sought outlets at more distant points.

The water poured in a perfect torrent into the basement of the new Nelson Building, doing great damage. The basement was filled with lead and iron goods, and much of the stock was damaged. It was feared the rushing water might weaken the foundation, though all of the sewers were opened, and the water at no time attained a greater depth than six inches in the basement.

Several Blocks Affected.

The district affected by the break extends from Chestnut and Fourteenth streets east to Seventh street, and on Tenth street from Chestnut street to Pine street. The users of water for steam-making purposes were notified of the break, and were told that the supply would be temporarily shut off. The elevators in the Lincoln Trust Building and the Wainwright Building obtain their supply from the Seventh street main and were not put out of commission by the shutting off of the water.

Commissioner Ben Atkins of the Water Department sent his men out to shut off the water. There are 10 valves in the district that were shut off. It required two men to close each valve and it was nearly an hour before the last valve was closed and the water ceased to pour through the pipes.

Mr. Atkins said that the damage would be temporarily repaired so that by 5 p. m. Tuesday the users of water could resume.

No one in the street department can account for the break. Mr. Atkins said the main had been in for many years. He said it was down in 1886, when he became attached to the Water Department, and he has no idea how long before. Breaks like this, he said, were unaccountable. The pressure in the main was 45 pounds to the square inch.

WETMORE FOR CABINET.

Col. Bill Phelps, once a faithful lieutenant of Missouri's senior Senator, W. J. Stone, but now a free-lance Democrat without a factional leg to stand on—if reliance is to be placed on his own definition of his present political attitude—came to St. Louis Tuesday morning and registered at the Southern Hotel.

The Colonel had hardly inscribed his name on the book when he was besieged by numerous politicians anxious to learn if he expected to go to New York to attend the reception to William J. Bryan at Madison Square Garden.

"I am sorry, but I won't be able to go," replied Col. Phelps regretfully.

"Of course," he added, "I know I would enjoy myself. Judging from the present looks of things I would meet on the train every political friend and enemy I ever had in Missouri.

"I guess the boys won't need me, though, because I don't issue passes east of the Mississippi.

"And what is more, I am not an artist in a three-ring circus. One ring is plenty big enough for me.

"Col. Wetmore has promised to tell me all that happens. And the Colonel, said Phelps, smiling slyly, "is such a smart fellow. Wouldn't he make a great Secretary of the Interior?

TO BUILD NEW ROAD, CHICAGO TO NEW YORK

Joseph Ramsey Jr. and Foreign Capitalists Announce Big Project.

WILL COST $150,000,000

Rail Distance Between the Two Cities to Be Shortened by 108 Miles.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Aug. 14.—Papers of consolidation of three railroads in different parts of Pennsylvania will be filed at Harrisburg this week, which will constitute the formal announcement of a project of prominent foreign bankers, associated with Joseph Ramsey Jr., former president of the Wabash Railroad, to build a low-grade, double-track railroad from New York to Chicago by way of Pittsburg, which will cost about $150,000,000.

Complete surveys have already been made, and it is expected that work preliminary to actual grading and construction next spring will begin this fall. It is expected that the road will require three years to construct. It is contemplated to use electric locombtives from the beginning. It will be known as the New York, Pittsburg & Celcago Air Line, and will be 65 miles shorter to New York than the Pennsylvania and 108 miles shorter than the shortest present line between New York and Chicago.

The new Keystone All Line will traverse the important bituminous coal fields of Central Pennsylvania, now controlled by the Pennsylvania Railroad, and will also pierce the anthracite region throughout its length. It will cross the summit of the Allegheny Mountains 400 feet lower than the Pennsylvania.

In a telegram from New York to a Pittsburg paper, Mr. Ramsey confirms the information given above. The cost of the line between Pittsburg and New York, Mr. Ramsey says, is estimated to be between $75,000,000 and $100,000,000, all of which has been pledged, the bulk of it by foreign capitalists.

The merger papers, to be filed this week, will provide for the consolidation of the Indiana, Clearfield & Eastern; the Allentown, Tamaqua & Ashland, and the Brush Creek & Crow's Run railroads.

PANTE CHECKS OR NO BIDS.

Government Bars Financiers Without Backing.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—Scores of applications for information concerning the proposed contract of the 2500 Chinese laborers have already reached the Isthmian Canal Commission and indications are that hundreds of persons are planning to make bids for this contract in the shape of realizing a small fortune from it, as several bidders did on the recent issue of Panama Canal bonds.

But prospective bidders without extensive financial backing will be much disappointed. It will be required that a large certified check (probably not less than $50,000, shall accompany each bid. Bids not accompanied by such a guarantee of good faith will not be considered.

WITNESS SCORED BY MRS. ATKINS

She Denies Man's Charge That She Spoke of Drowning Baby.

Mrs. Mary C. Atkins, with her black eyes flashing, pointed at George Joselyn in the Coroner's office Tuesday morning after he had testified to hearing her say she thought of drowning her 13-months-old child and shouted:

"You are a liar and a wife-beater. You drove your wife to all but kill herself."

Detective Dooley remonstrated with the woman and quieted her.

Deputy Coroner Lloyd had reopened the inquest into the death of little Hazel Atkins, who was found lying face downward in four inches of water on the bank of the Mississippi at the foot of Catalan street, Carondelet.

The Atkins family lived in a tent close to the spot where the child was found. The tent was pitched on top of a high bank of rough slag and cinders. The child was unable to walk much. When found its body bore no scratches and only the upper part of its clothing was wet. The postmortem showed that drowning caused death.

At the inquest Monday the verdict was: "Found drowned, whether by accident or at the hands of parties unknown to the jury cannot be ascertained."

How the 13-months-old child escaped from its mother's arms at 3 o'clock in the morning, got out of the tent, the opening of which was tied and closed with a suitcase, got down to the river bank unscratched and was drowned in four inches of water was left a mystery.

Father's Partner Accused.

At one time in her distracted talk, following the finding of the child's body, the mother accused George Joselyn of Venice, with whom Harry Atkins, the father, had recently been in partnership as a fisherman, of having taken the child from the tent and drowned it.

It was shown at the inquest that this would have been impossible without arousing the watchdog or awakening one of the four adult occupants of the 7x7 tent.

George Joselyn reported at police headquarters late Monday and Deputy Coroner Lloyd reopened the inquest to hear his testimony.

Joselyn first proved an alibi for Thursday night. Then he continued:

"Mrs. Atkins told me that she had lost her first child, Teddy, by drowning while she was living in a houseboat. When her second child was born the doctor told her she was so hysterical and unbalanced she wasn't fit to have a child.

"Harry Atkins and his wife lived in my house at Venice before they went to camping on the Missouri side of the river. While there she claimed my little child, Bessie, 4 years old, abused her little infant.

"I interfered in one of the spats between her and my wife which followed such incidents.

"'I tell you, George,' she told me when she quieted down a little, 'I sometimes feel so bad and hate myself and everybody so much that I feel like taking my baby down to the river and drowning it.'

"'What,' I answered, 'your own baby?'

"'Yes,' she said, 'my own baby.'"

While Joselyn was speaking the woman had been seated at the far end of the long table at which witnesses are examined.

Dr. Lloyd looked toward her, to note the effect of the man's words. At this the woman sprang to her feet and denounced the witness.

The interference of the police officials present prevented any further physical demonstration on the part of the enraged woman.

The verdict of the jury was not changed as a result of Joselyn's testimony and the woman was not held.

PAINTINGS BOGUS, SAYS MINE OWNER

Buyer Worth $250,000 Declares He Was Deceived as to Art Works.

E. T. Webb, a wealthy mine owner of Carthage and Webb City, Mo., has filed suit in the Circuit Court for $5000 damages against M. Alfred Newhouse of 5431 Cabanne avenue, charging that 23 oil paintings and water colors sold him by Newhouse were not what the latter represented them to be, and that Newhouse refused to buy them back and sell them for Webb at a profit. He alleges that Newhouse contracted to do this if Webb desired him to.

The petition states that Feb. 27, 1904, Webb and Newhouse entered into a contract whereby Webb was to pay Newhouse $415 in part consideration of the delivery of four oil paintings, purporting to be the work of German and English masters.

The paintings, as named in the petition, are: One original oil painting, "In the Royal Reserves, Lake Constance," represented to have been painted by William C. Elsen of Stuttgart; one original water color painting, "The Mail Coach Route, Black Forest," by the same painter; one original water color painting, "The Old Cottage or Homestead near Stuttgart," represented to have been painted by Elsen; one original water color painting, "At Kenilworth," represented to have been painted by John Falkner of London.

Webb alleges in his petition that Newhouse agreed and contracted that at any time within seven months from the date of sale he, Newhouse, would, at the request of Webb, sell the paintings for a total of $1100, with an allowance of 60 days for the sale.

Says They Were Copies.

Webb also charges that Newhouse agreed to pay the cost of framing and other similar expenses before the sale for Newhouse was made.

He charges in his petition that Newhouse also agreed to sell for him 19 other paintings in oil and water color, bought of Newhouse by Webb before the purchase of the last four. Only two paintings, bought by Webb from Newhouse, were excepted, Webb states—one called "Deserted" and the other "Eat and Grow Fat." These 19, Webb alleges, Newhouse promised to sell for him at a profit of more than 50 per cent.

The last 19 paintings were bought by Webb at a cost of over $3000, the petition states.

The suit is based on Webb's allegation that he notified Newhouse in due time that it was his desire to have Newhouse sell the paintings, and that the latter has failed to do so. Webb further alleges that most of the paintings were not what they were represented by Newhouse to be, and that they were copies instead of originals.

Webb says in his petition that Newhouse knew the pictures were copies. He says they were "commonplace" and not known to the world of art, and that the names were fictitious.

Webb says he has been damaged to the extent of $5000 and asks judgment against Newhouse for that amount.

Webb Worth $250,000.

Former Judge Selden P. Spencer represents Webb in the suit. The petition was drawn up by Attorney H. W. Currey of Carthage and was forwarded to Judge Spencer to be filed in St. Louis.

At 5431 Cabanne avenue, the address named in the petition, it was stated Thursday that Newhouse ceased to reside there some time ago, and is believed to have left the city.

When seen by a Post-Dispatch correspondent in Webb City, Mo., Tuesday, Webb, who owns land and mining property valued at $250,000, refused to speak in detail of his suit against Newhouse.

"I am not an art expert," said Webb, "and I took Newhouse's word that the works were those of noted painters. Since then I have had experts pass on the paintings, with the result that I have found them of little value.

"I am not trying to hurt Newhouse in a business way. I merely want to bring him to time and make him fulfill his agreement."

FIRE MENACES BIGGEST FAIR IN THE WORLD

Flames Are Devastating Suburbs of Nishni-Novgorod in Russia.

LIVES REPORTED LOST

One Body Already Recovered—Exhibits Valued at Hundreds of Millions.

NISHNI-NOVGOROD, Aug. 14.—The suburb of Gordievka is in flames and the fire is spreading. The great Fair buildings are endangered. It is thought that a number of persons have lost their lives in the conflagration.

One body has already been found.

The population of Nishni-Novgorod, a capital city of the Russian province of the same name, is 70,000, but during the continuance of the great fair from 200,000 to 300,000 persons are collected there. This fair is the largest in the world. It begins July 1, annually, and lasts eight weeks. The fair is laid out in the regular quarters, each allotted to a particular specie of goods, and the value of merchandise disposed of at these fairs amounts in some years to over $100,000,000.

NEY-THER HOTTER NOR YET COLDER

Temperature Will Just Be Stationary, and Fair.

Miss Fair Weather to Mr. St. Louis. Both are well known in this locality and are very popular. Miss Fair Weather will remain in the city tonight and Wednesday. She will probably leave for a short trip and return again. The young lady has such a charming personality that she has been urgently requested to come here and remain as long as she will.

Miss Fair Weather was the goddess of all the fair goddesses at the Post-Dispatch benefit at Sportsman's Park this afternoon. While the others are enchanting, Miss Fair Weather is absolutely necessary, for without her the others cannot shine.

AMERICANS ARM TO MEET MEXICANS; FAMILIES FLEEING

Proclamations Inciting Anti-American Outbreaks, With "Mexico for the Mexicans," as the Slogan, Give Warning of Coming Disturbance, Despite Diaz's Statements.

FOREIGNERS IN CAMPS OUTNUMBERED 100 TO 1

Fugitives in San Antonia Believe Government Sincere and Probably Able to Cope With Revolutionists, but Declare Fatalities in Isolated Districts Inevitable.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Aug. 13.—Notwithstanding the efforts of the Mexican Government and our own State Department to allay the fears of American residents in Mexico regarding the reports that an uprising against foreigners is to take place on or about Sept. 16, many Americans are sending their families out of the republic.

Within the last week a number of them have come to San Antonio. With one accord they say that while they do not expect the uprising to be successful, and that the Diaz Government will suppress it quickly, they are confident that there will be trouble and that fatalities are probable. In many cases men who have positions in Mexico have remained at work, but have sent their families here.

A man who lives at San Luis Potosi brought his family to this city and will return. For obvious reasons his name cannot be made public. He would lose his position and would not be safe in Mexico if he should be quoted. But he is familiar with conditions in Mexico and has told his friends that he is convinced that there will be trouble. He says the laboring classes are very much aroused and are determined to make an attempt on or about Sept. 16 to drive foreigners out of the republic. He does not expect the uprising to succeed, but he fears that a number of foreigners will be killed.

AMERICANS ARE ARMING.

"Nobody who keeps his eyes and ears open in Mexico can fail to see what is coming," he said. "I would not take the chance and expose my family to the danger."

The correspondent has seen a letter from a well-informed man who lives in a mining town in the State of Durango, in which he says that so certain are the Americans that there will be trouble that they have armed thmselves. Supplies of arms and ammunition have been shipped in to the Americans from the United States, says this man, and at the first sign of trouble the Americans will stand together and fight for their lives.

The proclamation calling for the uprising has been printed in Mexican papers, several copies of which have been received in this city. It is headed "Mexico for the Mexicans," and is extremely incendiary. The Mexican Government may be sincere in its declarations that there will be no trouble, because of confidence in its ability to handle any situation that may arise. This is no doubt true in the large cities and populous sections, but there are hundreds of small mining camps throughout the republic where the natives outnumber the foreigners 100 to 1. If the outbreak should come in many of these places the damage could be done before troops could be sent to the scene.

Nobody who is familiar with the situation expects any uprising to be successful so long as Diaz is alive. He is too strong for the revolutionists.

12,000 AMERICANS LIVING IN MEXICO.

According to James Arbuckle, manager of the Latin-American Club of St. Louis, there are about 12,000 Americans in Mexico. Of these, three or four thousand are in Mexico City. In the State of Nuevo Leon and its capital, Monterey, there are about 2000 Americans. In the State of San Luis Potosi there are several hundred; in Chuahua about 1500.

The rest of the Americans are scattered through Vera Cruz, Guerrero, Oaxaca and others of the 26 States in the country. Several hundred live on the Isthmus of Tehuantepec. Many of these living on the isthmus are from St. Louis.

Several millions of St. Louis capital are invested in many enterprises in various parts of Mexico.

LYNCHING CASE DELAYED.

Sixteen Still Lacking From 40 Needed for Venire.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Aug. 14.—Efforts to obtain a jury to try the Galbraith lynching case will be resumed Friday, the case having been laid over until then. The State has exhausted its regular and additional panels, obtaining only 24 talesmen out of 124.

Elisor Grantham is instructed to have 120 more men in court Friday, and hope is expressed that the venire of 40 may be completed out of that number. It will then be necessary to select the jury by challenge.

Thirty-five of the men so far examined have declared that, though they had no prejudice against capital punishment, they would not return a death verdict in this particular case.

FIRE CLAY AT CLAYTON.

The transfer of four lots in Ranndell's place near Clayton Tuesday reveals the fact that options have been taken upon 22 acres of land in the same addition by various real estate dealers and the report that fire clay underlies the ground.

Elizabeth S. Hubert sold four lots of the Ranndell addition to Edwin Unwin for $11,625. Unwin is said to be connected with the Missouri-Lincoln Trust Co. Real estate dealers at Clayton believe that the ground has fire clay under it, and several have taken options upon the property at high prices.

RALLY RESULTS IN PISTOL FIGHT

Republicans at London, Ky., Exchange Shots and Several Are Hurt.

LONDON, Ky., Aug. 14.—As the result of a pistol fight which ended the Republican rally here last night, Postmaster Williams was wounded, several women and children were trampled under foot, two mules were killed and Fred McCarty, Bruce Johnson, Stephen Ledford and George White are in jail.

The rally was to ratify the nomination of D. C. Edwards, who is making the race to succeed himself in Congress.

The trouble started between Fred McCarty and Bruce Johnson over a negro Rob Butner, who was carrying an Edwards banner. Scores of revolvers were drawn and many shots fired, but no one was badly hurt. The negro was arrested, but released on bond.

YOUTH ENDS LIFE AFTER ENLISTMENT

Son of Missouri Farmer Stabs Himself Near Jefferson Barracks.

USES OLD POCKETKNIFE

Regret Over Decision to Enter Army Believed to Be Cause.

Mervin Duncan, son of a farmer living near Sheffield, a Kansas City suburb, committed suicide at Jefferson Barracks by stabbing himself near the heart with the rusty blade of a small pocket knife. No motive has been assigned except regret for having enlisted in the army.

Duncan enlisted at Kansas City, passing the physical examination there. He was sent to the barracks for a second examination and was quartered in the receiving barracks.

Previously he had given Sergeant-Major Douglas a small sum of money and a nickel-plated watch to keep for him. The remainder of the day he spent entirely alone, allowing no one to talk with him. His strange conduct was commented upon by the soldiers.

Late Monday evening Duncan left the other soldiers and walked to the foot of a hill. There he leaned against a tree, drew his pocket knife and plunged the blade into his breast near the heart. Corporal John Tureck helped him to walk a short distance, but he died before the hospital could be reached.

The young man was well dressed and his hands were soft. In his pocket was found a book showing an account with his father.

ALL ACTS FOR MILK AND ICE FUND LEAD UP TO KISS AUCTION

For Charity's Sake Summer Garden Actors and Actresses Conduct Unparalleled Co-operative Entertainment Before Big Crowd at Sportsman's Park.

Erlinger's Dearie Band opened the program Tuesday afternoon at the actors' and actresses' benefit for the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund—the fund that saves the babies of the tenements. Mrs. Erlinger, St. Louis' own Dearie Girl, who was Miss Beatrice Fisher until won by the strains of the popular air as played at Erlinger's direction, was there to inspire her husband.

The program, opened by the band, was a long and varied one, leading up to the climax—the kiss to be given later this afternoon by Miss Perla Landers of the Suburban Garden stock company to the highest bidder. The kiss will be delivered C. O. D., as late as possible, that many persons delayed downtown may arrive at Sportsman's Park in time to witness it.

If you hear a resounding smack downtown, you can guess it's the charming ingenue delivering the goods. Note that this is for money for the Post-Dispatch Free Ice and Pure Milk uFnd. The highest bidder takes it. Miss Landers says she is going to do like sister Mary Jane in the "Girl From Paris"—"sit back and hold tight."

As the actors and the pretty summer garden actresses arrived during the band numbers great interest was taken.

"Dere's Ettel Fuller," piped up a boy.

"The figure in the distance is the charming Miss Rhoda, the accomplished prima donna," remarked young Emerson Browning. As the summer entertainers, endeared to the public after their stay here for the summer, entered they were recognized and applauded.

The persons in the grandstand were not unmindful of the cause behind this array of beauty and talent. They know the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund is a worthy charity. They have followed the cases chronicled in the papers and realize how many lives have been saved by this charity. Their admission in many cases is their personal contribution to the fund.

All Wreathed in Smiles.

Miss Fuller and her sterling company who pleased St. Louisans last week in "Nell Gwynne," and who is equally charming this week in "Blue Jeans"—note the quotation marks—arrived from West End Heights in a special car run direct to the park.

Col. J. D. Hopkins, Mr. and Mrs. Dearie Erlinger and the actors and actresses from Forest Park Highlands arrived in automobiles. They are all wearing the latest in smiles.

Then came the Suburban Garden contingent captained by the Messers Opjenheimer. Poor Maude Fealy was too ill to come, but she sent her best wishes from a feverish sick bed and all her support—the handsome Leslie Leigh, the warm-hearted Perla Landers and all of the splendid organization. They came in tally-hos supplied by the only livery firm that can supply them, Keyes & Marshall, tooting their horns and making the route gay with their carnival spirit.

And here come more tally-hos.

"Ah," the crowd says. "The beautiful Miss Rhoda. Yes, and there's little Pearl Revarre. Why, it's the whole Delmar company. That's Young—looks funny off the stage, doesn't he?

The Delmar contingent came upon tally-hos furnished also by Keyes & Marshall.

Next came the red-hot, pyrotechnic, incinerating, devastating, destructive Gregory, who burns up Moscow at least once a day. This destructive genius came with his acrobats and vaudeville actors ready to amuse the public.

Mannion's vaudeville actors came in the street cars. As the unequaled vaudeville acts continued, the spectators eagerly awaited the kiss auction.

Those present have seen Miss Landers. Almost everybody wishes he had money enough to take the auction by storm and get that kiss by bidding highest.

OLLIE ROBERTS ORDERED TO LEAVE

town," she said, "and there is no use trying to stay here when the police tell me to go. But I don't know how I am going to get away. I am dead broke. If the fare was $10 to Europe I couldn't go without borrowing the ten.

Wishes She Was in Prison.

"Do you know what, I wish I was back at the Penitentiary. I'd rather be there than in this fix. It is better to be in the Penitentiary than to have the police down on you. They won't let me make an honest living and they won't let me make a dishonest living. They won't let me be good and they won't let me be bad.

"Wherever I go it will be the same thing. The police here have it in for me, and they will tip off the police of any city I go to.

"I was happier and better off in the Penitentiary than I am now. I was sheltered and cared for there, and I had the friendship of the prison matron and others. I enjoyed privileges, and was under obligation to nobody. I think if I had stayed I could have got out anyway in a year. My health was poor, and I think the doctor up there would have recommended my release.

"As it is, I came out under obligations to tell what I knew about police grafting in the bad lands. I had not promised that I would do so, but I knew that was what I was released for, and I did what they expected me to. As long as they needed me as a witness they treated me all right. My hotel bill was paid, and I was provided for. But now that they don't seem to want me any more they tell me to get out.

"They told me in February that they were through with me and I could go wherever I wanted to. My sister in California wanted me to come to her and I went. I wanted to become a nurse and had a prospect of getting into one of the hospitals. Then President Stewart took a notion that he wanted me to testify in the Monahan trial. The police out there were notified, and they kept after me until I made up my mind that the best thing would be for me to come back. They didn't offer to pay my railroad fare and I had to borrow money to come back on.

Can't Be a Nurse Now.

"When they were through with me they didn't offer to send me back. Now they tell me to get out of town. I won't go back to my sister. That nurse business is all off now. The police spoiled that when they called me back.

"I don't know whether my pardon is conditional or not. And I don't care. Conditions wouldn't have any effect on me. I'd do what I thought I had to do, conditions or no conditions.

"I want to make an honest living, but I don't see how I am going to do it. The police won't let me get a job and they won't let me hold it if I get it. I tried to quit the life I was in seven years ago, and the police showed me up in every job I got.

"I can't go back into the old business. Police protection is indispensable for that, and, of course, I couldn't get police protection. There is nothing doing in the panel business in St. Louis now. Policemen won't give protection, and without protection it is impossible to run such a house. I always fixed it with the police before I attempted to open up.

Tells of Her Arrest.

"If I had known when I was in the Penitentiary what I know now, I would have stayed there. Maroney and Sager are the only ones that have been square with me. I've been pretty bad, but I have always been true to my friends.

"No friend of mine was ever robbed in my house. And they have come there with thousands of dollars on them. I always gave it out that I wouldn't stand for a dollar being taken from them.

"I know how to be square, but the police don't. Why, when those policemen got after me the other night I had some friends with me and I told them to leave me and not get into trouble on my account. They didn't want to, but I made them go away.

"I wasn't drunk, though. There were six of us in the party. We had only had four bottles of beer. The policemen said they had mind to take me in and told them they would better do so, but everything was quiet.

"All I want them to do is to leave me alone. All I ask is an even break. That's what I would have got if I had stayed my time out in the Penitentiary, and now that I have testified for them they ought to give me the same chance. I don't want to go back to the old way. There's nothing in it. I know."

Both Ollie Roberts and the woman who has befriended her said Tuesday that she would probably leave St. Louis Tuesday night if she could arrange the matter of transportation without police assistance.

SUCCOR ON BATTLEFIELD.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Rear Admiral W. C. Sperry, Gen. R. M. O'Reilly and Lieut. D. W. Wurtsbaugh, who have been attending the Geneva convention in Switzerland as representatives of the United States, arrived here yesterday on the Kroonland from Antwerp. They said the definition of the status of those who succor wounded on the field of battle was one of the principal actions of the convention. No person will be recognized in future who is not a member of an international body which also has the sanction of the country to which it belongs.

JEALOUS WOMAN KILLS HER LOVER

Looked Like Suicide, but Miss Jones Declares "I Did It."

ACCIDENT, SHE CLAIMS

"Will Marry You or Kill You," Girl Declared, According to Witness.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

DECATUR, Ill., Aug. 14.—James Todd, a well-known liquor dealer and former Deputy United States Marshal, was shot and killed by Miss Mary Jones, a sweetheart, here, last night.

The woman admits shooting Todd, but declares it was an accident, and she would rather have died herself than have killed the man she loved. She was arrested after the shooting and sent to the County Jail.

Todd was a Texan, and came to this city a year ago. A wealthy woman vied with Miss Jones, a handsome girl of 23, for his affection. Todd showered attentions on both and they were madly jealous of each other.

Last night Todd and Miss Jones dined at a restaurant adjoining his saloon. Lou Trail, who dined with them, says Miss Jones declared to Todd: "I will be true to you and marry you if I have to kill you."

After dining the couple parted. Later Miss Jones returned to the restaurant, which is connected with the saloon by an open window. She was told to go to the window and get something that Todd wished to give her.

She went to the window. Todd handed her a revolver and said: "Here, take this." The woman asked what it was for, and the next instant a shot rang out and Todd fell over dead.

The tragedy occurred as the two attaches were closing up the saloon. They heard the shot and the falling of Todd's body, but did not see who discharged the weapon. It was at first thought that Todd had committed suicide, but when the curtain covering the connecting window was pushed aside Miss Jones thrust her head through and screamed: "I did it! I did it!"

During the evening Todd spoke to acquaintances of his affair with Miss Jones, and declared that she would yet be the death of him.

Brewery Driver Released.

Fred Muller, a driver for a brewery, was released Tuesday morning by Justice Jacoby of Kirkwood on the charge of having delivered liquor to the several clubs in Kirkwood. The case of Edward Boelker, who runs a saloon on the Manchester road, was postponed until September. He was charged with the same as Muller.

TO STOP DIVIDENDS ON WATERED STOCK

Gov. Folk Is in Earnest in His Effort to Regulate Rates of Public Utility Corporations—Will Strive for a Commission to Fix the Rates.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Aug. 14.—In discussing the plan suggested by him in a speech at Stewartsville, Mo., last week, for a commission to regulate the rates of all public service corporations, Gov. Folk today said:

"The result of this commission would be to squeeze the water out of the stock and to eliminate fictitious values. One of the greatest evils of these public utility corporations has been the immense amount of watered stock on which the people have been compelled to pay dividends."

The Governor is very much in earnest in his advocacy of a commission to regulate the rates and otherwise limit the power of and to control these corporations. He believes the establishment by the Legislature of such a commission would result in much lower rates from the gas, electric light, telephone, telegraph and street car companies.

Regarding his new plan, the Governor said:

"With the immense growth of public service corporations it has become necessary for the State to exercise the right to regulate their charges in order to prevent extortion from the public. The legality of regulating the rates of such corporations is clear. A corporation controlling public utilities is not permitted even by common law to charge unreasonable rates.

"To determine the reasonableness of rates, a public utility commission could be provided for with power to inquire into and determine the actual amount invested in such corporations, and to fix the rates such concerns charge the public on a reasonable basis, allowing a fair return for capital, labor, skill and genius. Of course, under the Constitution, the action of such commission would be subject to review by the courts as to the reasonableness of the rate fixed.

"The result of this would be to squeeze the water out of the stock and to eliminate fictitious values. One of the greatest evils of these public utility corporations has been the immense amount of watered stock on which the people have been compelled to pay dividends.

"If the rates of all public service corporations were regulated on the basis of actual investment, and it has been held by the courts that the Legislature can do this, the result would be to materially lower the rates charged by gas, electric light, telephone, telegraph and street car companies, where the rates now charged are based on fictitious values.

"Corporations controlling public utilities exercise privileges that are denied the ordinary individual. It is not only fair to them that their rates be regulated on a reasonable basis by the State, but such action seems to be necessary in this day of immense consolidation of capital for the protection of the public."

Chinese Emperor's Tea.

The Emperor of China's tea is grown in a garden surrounded by high walls, so that none but the cultivators can approach it. The pickers must bathe three times daily, wear special gloves, and abstain from eating fish lest their breath should spoil the leaves' aroma.

HIS MUSIC HAD NO CHARMS TO SOOTHE

Tennessee Mountain Youth Assailed by Rude, Rough Men in the City.

TOOK MONEY AND BANJO

His Efforts to Plunk the Instrument Rendered Futile by His Fear.

Noah Dunaway, a Tennessee mountaineer 18 years old, had scarcely recovered Tuesday from his fright of the night previous when highwaymen took his money, tried to force him to drink beer and demanded that he furnish banjo music for their "can party." The Tennesseean was so scared he couldn't distinguish between the frets and his ragtime efforts were raggeder than usual.

"I was a-walkin' up Twenty-third street, just 'bove Olive street, long by that first alley," he said, "when a couple o' rough-lookin' fellers grabs me an' says: 'Come on and blow us to a can a suds.'

"I was kinda skeered of 'em and tells 'em I don't drink no beer. They tells me I'll have to drink ut anyway an' I tell 'em I won't an' they grabs me and says:

"'You farmer, we'll make you drink.'

"As soon as they gets me in the alley two other fellers grabs me. It's dark there. They puts guns up to mah head and tells me they'll 'blow out mah lights.' That was new to me, but it sounded pretty bad.

"We got up to an ole barn where there was two more fellers all asittin' aroun'. 'You-all play us a tune,' they tole me. 'Honest, fellers,' I says, 'I can't play nothin'. I ken play, but I was so dummed skeered I couldn't make the banjo go nohow, but they made me try it.

Took Money, Rejected Watch.

"'How much money you got, Rube?' one of the gang asked me. I told him I had 'bout five dollahs. A couple of 'em held me while the others went through mah clothin'. They took mah watch and when they seen it was a dollah watch they passes it back.

"I kinda begged for that thar banjo; it's the only frien' I got in this city. I come here last April a stranger. I don't know nobody and I just thinks of those evenin's at home with ma and pa at our ole home in the country, when I plays it. They wouldn't listen to me and they taken mah banjo.

"The gang knocked me down and left me on the floor when they left. I'm glad I don't drink if it makes fellahs act thataway. They said they was goin' to kill me if I yelled and they was six to one. I ain't much on city ways, but I'd like to fight any two on 'em without guns."

Dunaway is a hardy, muscular boy who looks to be at least 25. Brought up to hard work in Stewart County, Tennessee, his muscles are well developed. Although the odds were greatly against him he told the ruffian robbers he would die before he would drink a glass of beer.

Jolly Fives Elect Officers.

The Jolly Five Musical Club held their annual election of officers Friday evening and installed the following officers for the ensuing term: Tony Duran, president; C. D. Hackett, vice-president; Michael Fitzgerald, financial secretary; James J. Hackett, recording secretary; David B. Hoffman, treasurer; Thomas P. Walsh, warden. They will inaugurate the dancing season with a reception at Liederkranz hall on Saturday evening, Sept. 1.

MAN AND FOUR HORSES DIE IN BURNING BARN

Body Taken From Manchester Avenue Ruins Two Hours After Alarm.

FIRE WITNESS ARRESTED

Neighbors Tell Police They Saw Him Leaving Place Before Blaze.

WOMEN'S VISIT RUMORED

Employer Supposed Stable Man With Wife at Missouri Avenue Home.

Frank Ellison was suffocated in a fire that destroyed the barn of George W. Hooper & Bros. at 2905 Manchester avenue early Tuesday. His body was found in the loft by firemen at 7 a. m., two hours after the fire broke out, and was conveyed to the morgue.

Four horses were burned to death while they stood in their stalls on the lower floor. The estimated damage is $5000.

Fred H. Krite, 42 years old, single, giving his address as 2202 Chouteau avenue, was arrested at 7 a. m. by Policemen Burke and Mohan, and is being held at the Manchester Avenue Police Station while the police investigate a report that he was seen to leave the barn a few minutes before the fire was discovered.

Ellison, who was 25 years old, had been working at the place for a week. He was a teamster, and lived with his wife at 1428 Mississippi avenue. His father lives at 2346 Rutger street. Ellison was not supposed to sleep in the premises, and it was known that he was there until the firemen found his body.

Richard Nugent, 20 years old, also a driver, slept in the barn, but he told Mr. Hooper Tuesday that he did not know that Ellison was in the barn.

Says Women Were Admitted.

Joseph Scherzinger, telephone operator at the Manchester Avenue Police Station, told a Post-Dispatch reporter that he saw Nugent and another man admit two women to the front gate of the coal yard about 11 p. m. Monday, but he thought nothing of it at the time.

George W. Hooper said he was at the place about 11:30 p. m., but he did not go upstairs where Nugent was supposed to be sleeping, and he heard no noise or voices.

He did not hear of the reported admission of the women until after Nugent had left for the day.

Krite was arrested because of the statements of two neighbors, and because of his appearance. Henry Medina of 2823 Walnut street said he saw Krite crawl over the front gate between two barbed wires a few minutes before the fire was discovered. Charles Riely of 2921 Manchester avenue says he saw Krite a few minutes after the fire was discovered.

The police say there was hayseed on Krite's coat, and that his trousers were torn as though by barbed wire. He denied that he had scaled the fence and said he was at Eighteenth and Market streets and went to the fire when he saw the fire apparatus going.

WOMAN WHO WON SALARY FROM COUNCIL.

MISS KATHERINE BOWE.

READY TO WORK, SHE WINS SALARY

"Turned Down" by City Clerk, Woman Is Victorious in Council.

CLERK'S SON DEFEATED

Miss Bowe of East St. Louis Will Continue to Keep Death Records.

Miss Katherine Bowe, assistant to Special Tax Collector Charles G. Derleth of East St. Louis, will have to hear herself called "The Diplomat" for days to come as a result of the unanimous vote cast Monday in her favor by the City Council of East St. Louis, with the entire approval of Mayor Cook, in regard to the blowing of her salary.

Miss Bowe's salary as the Tax Collector's assistant is paid by Mr. Derleth himself from his salary. The woman's salary is $15 a month, which Miss Bowe has earned heretofore by keeping the mortuary records for City Clerk Williams and doing necessary typewriting for his department.

City Clerk Williams decided that he would not have Miss Bowe do this work last April and gave it to a clerk. He has given her no work since that time, but, since she has always been ready to do whatever was asked of her, the City Council agreed that she should be paid her salary. It refused to allow the clerk's hire.

Miss Bowe for several years has held the position of assistant to the special tax collector regardless of the fact that the main office has been occupied by men of different political parties.

Her Office Sunny Place.

Her office in the City Hall is always counted a sunny place. Miss Bowe considers herself not a diplomat, but merely a young woman who takes proper care of her business interests.

"It will be five years in October since I began taking care of the mortuary records and doing typewriting for the City Clerk," she told a Post-Dispatch reporter. "Since then there has been a change in administrations, but when Mayor Cook was elected to succeed Mayor Stephens, he said, 'Continue just as you have hitherto, Miss Bowe.'

"The salary of $15 a month was paid to me from the City Treasury. Some days the typewriting amounted to considerable work, since I made copies of all the ordinances. I reported to the City Clerk each morning at 9 o'clock for the mortuary records. Mr. Williams was not in office when I began, but he and I had no differences. I have heard him speak in complimentary language of my work.

"For two days after the April election there were no deaths. The third day there was one death. I went in the City Clerk's office to make record of that and he said, 'I shall do that work myself after this.' I said nothing, but left the room.

"I reported the fact that Mr. Williams intended to do his own work to one in authority and returned to my duties.

Advised to File Claim.

"I didn't know whether to ask for salary or not, since I was not let work, but men who knew about the case advised me to file my claim. I did so. The matter has been up for consideration for some time, and naturally caused discussion.

"I was surprised to see the interest taken in it. It was explained to me that Mr. Williams was having work done by an assistant, his son. Those who explained said that if I was ready to do the work there was no necessity for the assistant and when a bill for clerk hire for the son was presented to the City Council, it was not allowed."

An East St. Louis alderman said: "We want Miss Bowe to do that work. We are unanimous in the matter and the Mayor is with us. Her back salary has been allowed. We can't help the fact that Mr. Williams insists upon doing work that he need not do. Miss Bowe will continue to assist him when he permits her to do so."

City Clerk Williams is a candidate for County Clerk at the coming election on the Democratic ticket.

Festival in Florisant.

The annual church festival of St. Ferdinand's Parish of Florissant, one of the survivals of the old French days, will be held all day Wednesday, Aug. 22. Many visitors are expected, as well as the sons and daughters of the old village, who have come to help St. Louis reach the million mark. Rev. Father F. G. Hillman, S. J., pastor of the parish, announces that there will be no dancing and no "hard" drinks, but that there will be various kinds of other amusements and refreshments.

Union Men for Scullin.

Beer Drivers' and Stablemen's Union, No. 43, has adopted resolutions favoring the candidacy for Congress of William R. Scullin, who is seeking the Democratic nomination in the Twelfth District. Resolutions passed at a regular meeting of the union and signed by Joseph Kuentz, president, and August Priesterbach, secretary, have been issued, inviting the co-operation of other labor organizations in advancing Mr. Scullin's candidacy.

Boy's Finger Torn Off.

William Schmitel, a lad of 13, living a half mile west of Clayton, was leading a cow by a chain, Monday afternoon, when it took fright and started to run, dragging the boy along with it. The boy's little finger became caught in one of the links of the chain and was pulled off at the second joint. Dr. Youngman dressed the injury.

Miss Betty Keiser Dies.

The funeral of Miss Betty L. Keiser, who died at her home, 3504 Washington avenue, at 7 p. m. Monday, will be held Wednesday afternoon. Miss Keiser died after a short illness. She was well known in society circles and was the daughter of the late John W. Keiser, a capitalist.

OVER 50 DEAD IN LANGTRY FLOODS

West Texas Cloudbursts Sweep Away Fishing Camps and Ranch Houses.

2 TOWNS REPORTED GONE

Relief Expeditions Sent to Devastated Section—2 Killed at Meridian, Miss.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Aug. 14.—From the most authentic reports received more than fifty deaths resulted from the cloudburst at Langtry yesterday. Twenty camps of fishers on Duvie River are known to have been swept away. Names for the present are unobtainable and it will be days before the relief parties return.

The first relief train returned from Langtry last night. The crew reports 35 miles of track and 15 bridges destroyed. The country for a distance of 30 miles between Langtry and Samuels is under water, and to the west Saumla and Comstock are threatening. Fleeing cowboys from the outlying ranches have reached Langtry and report a number of their comrades drowned. Every ranch house in the flood territory is gone, and with them men, women and children.

Both the Pecos and Devil's rivers are out of their banks and pouring their floods into the Rio Grande. Painted Cave, a Mexican town of 500 near where the Pecos enters the Rio Grande, is reported washed away. Flanders, 20 miles south, is also reported gone. At Devil's River Junction, a water tank station, the engineer and his family are said to have drowned. The Rio Grande, from the mouth of the Pecos south, is on a rampage and threatens a number of towns along its banks, and it is still rising.

TWO LOSE LIFE IN MERIDIAN (MISS.) STORM.

Special to the Post-Dispatch

MERIDIAN, Miss., Aug. 14.—During a wind and rain storm which precipitated 4 inches of rain in an hour and caused thousands of dollars of damage to property, Willie Bryan, a boy, was struck by lightning and killed at his home. A negro attending on a coal chute, became frighted, fell in and was drowned.

PEACEMAKER IS FELLED.

Paul Merz, 64 years old, a wagon maker, tried to be a peacemaker also. Now he's in the City Hospital.

An expressman, giving his name as Walter Davison, stopped at the shop of Merz, 1706 O'Fallon street, long enough to get a slight repair made on his wagon, when a man named Shapiro passed. He scrutinized carefully the harness Davison's horse had on. Then he entered the shop and asked him to give up the harness, saying it was stolen from him two months before. Davison refused, and Shapiro attempted to strike him. Merz interfered and Shapiro hit him in the back with a wagon stake, then knocked him to the ground with a blow on his head.

AN OLD TIMER
Has Had Experiences.

A woman who has used Postum Food Coffee since it came upon the market 8 years ago knows from experience the necessity of using Postum in place of coffee if one values health and a steady brain.

She says: "At the time Postum was first put on the market I was suffering from nervous dyspepsia and my physician had repeatedly told me not to use tea or coffee. Finally I decided to take his advice and try Postum, and got a sample and had it carefully prepared, finding it delicious to the taste. So I continued its use and very soon its beneficial effects convinced me of its value for I got well of my nervousness and dyspepsia.

"My husband had been drinking coffee all his life until it had affected his nerves terribly. I persuaded him to shift to Postum and it was easy to get him to make the change for the Postum is so delicious. It certainly worked wonders for him.

"We soon learned that Postum does not exhilarate or depress and does not stimulate, but steadily and honestly strengthens the nerves and the stomach. To make a long story short our entire family have now used Postum for eight years with completely satisfying results as shown in our fine condition of health and we have noticed a rather unexpected improvement in brain and nerve power." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

"WIDOW" DUPED MANY WOULD-BE BENEDICTS

Biggest Matrimonial Syndicate on Record Uncovered by Federal Officials.

ST. LOUISANS INTERESTED

Among Letters Seized in New York Several Said to Be From This City.

WOMAN HAS RECORD

Is Mrs. Bina Verrault, and Her Husband Gives Information About Her.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—If half that has been told United States District Attorney Carmody is true there will be amusement in plenty when "The Widow" is placed on trial—and one or two St. Louis men will have told how, when they sought a wife, they found a confidence game.

The "widow" is Mrs. Bina F. Verrault, or "Miss Hamilton," or other aliases, and she has been using the mails ostensibly in search of a husband. There is a story that among the many letters found in the woman's house several came from St. Louis men. Their names have not been revealed.

Leo Kiester of the Mutual Life Insurance Co. told the prosecutor that he gave $4500 to Mrs. Verrault. This happened in about the same way that James B. McClellan, a Philadelphian, parted with $2800. Kiester had heard of McClellan's affair and he wanted to give corroborative evidence.

So impressive was the story told by Kiester that Mr. Carmody speedily had a second warrant issued for Mrs. Verrault's arrest. She outwitted a deputy marshal sent to her house at 323 West Eighty-second street, and is believed to have left town.

Her young husband, George T. Verrault, smarting in the memory of the horsewhipping she gave him a year ago, called on Mr. Carmody to tell all he knew of the woman's past life. Mr. Carmody received word from two more victims of the matrimonial syndicate. Both said they would appear during today and show McClellan "got off easy."

"I was done brown," asservated this man, who is said to be a Wall street financier.

Gigantic Matrimonial Bureau.

When he had heard them all, Mr. Carmody said: "There has been operating in this city a fake matrimonial syndicate, of which Mrs. George T. Verrault and her blond friend, Miss Izella Brown, are the heads. Associated with them are Mrs. Brown's sister, Miss Josiah Brown, and several men. It is probable that other women will be drawn into the net. The syndicate has gone into the business at a wholesale rate and has cleaned up many thousands of dollars. I believe that before we are through the names of some well-known sporting men about town will be drawn in."

It was Verrault who lifted the veil. He is an artist and lives at Bensonhurst, a suburb of Brooklyn. He said he had gone to the District Attorney because he desired to straighten out some things that the authorities seemed to be in doubt about. A man who was with Verrault told some reporters Mrs. Verrault's life story, while Verrault, who stood by, nodded assent.

Mrs. Verrault, this man said, was born about 32 years ago in Ironton, Wis. Her maiden name was Bina Finnegan. Her father was a frequenter of the saloon and was killed in a brawl; her mother died after a spree. One of Bina's brothers is a schoolmaster in Ironton and another is an agent of a railroad at Chicago.

When in her teens Bina Finnegan, a girl of rare beauty, went to Chicago and found a position with the Prussian Life Insurance Co. Taking a sudden dislike to the name of Finnegan, she called herself Bina Forrestre.

In Chicago she met Mrs. Izella Brown. This was in 1892. The two women became close friends. Izella Brown was then called Mrs. James Pemberton Brown and posed as a widow. She was older than Bina Finnegan and had a great influence over her. It was not long before the two women became involved in transactions of which the police became aware and they hurriedly left Chicago.

Bina Finnegan went to Philadelphia in 1901 and there, at a boarding house, Verrault met her. He was captivated by her pretty face and on Feb. 16 of that year they were married. When the honeymoon was a week old Mrs. Verrault was caught shoplifting in a Philadelphia store, according to her husband, and was sent to Jail. When she got out she began drinking. She disappeared for three days and Verrault was distracted. When she returned home he forgave her and they went to Baltimore. There his wife drank harder than ever, Verrault said, and he found that she had taken up again with Izella Brown. To get her away from the woman, Verrault brought his wife to New York. He rented the fine brown stone residence at 114 West Seventy-third street. One day Izella Brown again appeared.

Soon Verrault began to hear stories of what went on in his house while he was away. Neighbors told him of young men calling, and of a lot of women making visits. One day in October, 1903, Verrault took his wife away. The house was turned over to Izella Brown.

Mrs. Verrault, after a time, left her husband. He went to the Seventy-third street house and made a scene. This led to the horsewhipping. Verrault was going to a boarding house on Eighty-second street, near Amsterdam avenue, the evening of Jan. 13, when Gregory Alles, a sculptor, who once associated with Gutzon Borglum, stopped him. Alles had visited the Seventy-third street residence many times while Verrault was there. Taking Verrault by the arm, Allen started to tell how sorry his wife was about their misunderstanding. Verrault felt sad and had about made up his mind to go back to his wife, when a young man who, Verrault says, was Joseph Mason, a brother of Izella Brown, jumped upon him. While Mason and Allen held Verrault, his wife Izella Brown and two more women rushed in with horsewhips. Verrault fought under the rain of blows until he escaped. After that Verrault lost all interest in his wife and did not see her again.

He says she got $2000 from the Metropolitan Street Railway two years ago by pretending that she had been crushed between a car and an "L" pillar. Verrault added that the accident never happened and that the company was "easy." She also got from H. B. Claflin & Co. $15,000 worth of rich tapestries, he said, and got the better of other stores. These all happened either before or after he lived with her. Izella Brown, according to several relatives, has served prison terms for various offenses. Verrault regards her as the leader in the matrimonial schemes of the "widows'" clique. Izella Brown has two sisters beside her daughter under her influence, he said, and they have all helped in this plot. Izella Brown comes from New Glasgow, Nova Scotia, and, according to Verrault, has been all over the country making money out of men with susceptible hearts and bank accounts.

He said he had contemplated a divorce, but had hesitated because of religious scruples.

Mr. Carmody said Verrault's revelations had clinched the case against Mrs. Verrault of using the mails to defraud. In her letters to MacClellan and other men, Bina Verrault of Hamilton spoke of engagement rings and held out promises of marriage. Inasmuch as she was already married, it was evident that her promises of matrimony were a subterfuge.

The experience of Kiester, the insurance man, gives Mr. Carmody the hope of piling up a high sentence upon the self-styled widow. Kiester, who is tall and auburn-haired, lives at 1234 Fulton street, the Bronx. He is 40 years old and has been in love just once. That cost him $4500.

"I don't like to talk about it," he said, "but as that Philadelphia man has broken the ice I am not afraid. I advertised last October for a wife. I was lonesome and had no one to make love to. Among the replies was one signed 'Mrs. Montgomery.' I liked the way it read, and called at 114 West Seventy-third street. It was the finest house I ever was in. A butler all in glad rags and everything fixed just so. The brains of the household was Mrs. Izella Brown, who said she was a sister-in-law of Mrs. Verrault, alias Hamilton. She said Mrs. Verrault was awfully nice and just the kind of a dear girl for any man with love and money. Then she fetched Mrs. Verrault in. I was simply stunned. Mrs. Verrault told me she had signed herself Mrs. Montgomery because she did not want to tell her real name until she found out what sort of a man I was. I laughed and said that was all right. She kind of sat off in a corner and sized me up.

"I called again the next night and pretty soon we were great friends. I met Gregory Allen, a sculptor, and a lawyer named Edward H. Drucker. Mrs. Brown told me they were sweet on her daughter, Helen, a pretty little thing with golden hair. After I had been calling a week or so the 'touches' began. They never stopped. Mrs. Verrault told me about her property being tied up, and I gave her money to help boost along the litigation. I bought her an engagement ring that cost $275. I gave her all sorts of presents and money in chunks.

"It cost me $2500 to take her around to Broadway cafes. She would always wear a veil, because she said her brother, who was fighting for her property, would be mad if he saw her with a stranger. I gave her so much money to fight different features of the litigation that I had to borrow, and I'm still paying it back."

The end came for Kiester when Mrs. Verrault asked for an unusually large sum. When he wrote back that his funds were running low she stopped writing. Izella Brown, instead, sent a letter saying she had gone West.

The warrant was issued after Kiester had unfolded his troubles, and was given to Deputy Reed of Marshal Henkel's office to serve. When he rang the bell at 323 West Eighty-second street a negro, who had taken Gregory Allen's place at the door, resnonded.

"Nobody's home," he said. "They're all in the country."

Reed left, and as he walked away heard a feminine voice say: "That's the time he got fooled."

The deputy hurried back and pushed into the house. Reed had been told to ransack the house for letters that the District Attorney might use. He started at the garret and worked down. While he worked, someone in a lower hall called up on the telephone Hugh Gordon Miller, counsel for Mrs. Verrault, and said that a deputy was tearing up the house. Miller called up Marshal Henkel and asked that the deputy be called off.

"My client says she will come down to your office at 3 o'clock and be served with the warrant," said the lawyer. Henkel sent word to Reed not to bother any more about the letters and not to arrest Mrs. Verrault.

When 3 o'clock came, no Mrs. Verrault appeared. Henkel stormed. Lawyer Miller said he did not know what was keeping his client. Henkel sent a deputy to the house and he was told that Mrs. Verrault had left town. Mr. Carmody suggested that she might be out looking for bail. Mr. Miller thought she would surely appear this morning.

WOMAN THROWN OFF CAR.

Mrs. Feder Probably Fatally Hurt by Sudden Start.

Owing to the haste of a street car conductor in starting a Cass avenue car, Mrs. John Feder of 1215 Sidney street is near death at the City Hospital. Mrs. Feder was injured at Ninth and Sidney streets at 2 p. m. Monday.

She attempted to board a Cass avenue car, and is said to have had one foot on the lower step and was about to place the other on the platform when the conductor rang the bell signaling the motorman to go ahead. The car started with a jerk, throwing Mrs. Feder off backward. The back of her head struck the pavement, fracturing the skull at the base of the brain.

She will be removed Tuesday afternoon to St. Mary's Infirmary. Physicians say she cannot recover.

STRIKE SETTLED WITH A RIFLE

Crack Shot Gives Foreign Workmen Something to Do Besides Making Trouble.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SANDUSKY, O., Aug. 14.—Major John Coutcher's of Kelly's Island, 12½ miles from here, in Lake Erie, today employed an entirely original method to solve the labor problem.

Several hundred foreigners employed in quarries struck for higher wages after they were paid off Saturday. Refusal made them angry and today they threatened to destroy the company's property. Major Coutcher was advised of the situation. He had no police department to call upon and help could not be summoned from Sandusky in time to be of any assistance, so he decided to take matters in his own hands. With his rifle on his shoulder he marched to the quarries, where he ordered the strikers to disperse. They demurred and he opened fire upon them. One ball grazed a striker's ear, another was sent through the leg of another's trousers and a third clipped the heel of a foreigner.

By this time the strikers, dismayed and awed at the display of marksmanship, fled precipitately. The ringleaders left the island in haste and the others returned to work.

Major Coutcher is a crack rifle shot, having many times brought down 25 birds straight in shoots here.

VALLEY PARK WILLING.

Residents Desire Name Changed to West St. Louis.

Residents of Valley Park have determined to petition the Postoffice Department and the railroads to change the name of the town to West St. Louis. Though there are 16 stations between Valley Park and Union Station, the intervening district is a thickly settled settlement and the residents believe that in a few years they will be within the limits of St. Louis.

At a meeting of the citizens of Valley Park Monday night, the Valley Park Business Men's Association was organized and the following officers elected: President, J. F. Johnson; vice-president, C. B. Fischer; secretary, H. Krutsch; treasurer, Dr. F. P. Knabb. One of the objects decided on was to work for annexation to St. Louis.

Hay Fever Some Think It's Catarrh

Hundreds have hay fever and don't know it. If your nose is continually stopped up—if there is a dryness there—if you keep blowing your nose without any relief—if you have a constant desire to spit—then the membrane of your nostrils and head is diseased. Perhaps you call it "head catarrh." If so, that liquid X-Zalia snuffed up the nostrils will give you relief that will last. It's the same relief the hay fever sufferer gets by using X-Zalia. Even in the severest cases when one's eyes are swollen—the nose running and the head so stopped up you can't breathe, sleep or eat—then use this healing antiseptic liquid.

X-Zalia

You get rid of that "stuffed-up feeling."

A. A. Remillard, 414 East 14th Street, Cincinnati, Ohio, says—"I have been using that Liquid X-Zalia, for the last two weeks, and by snuffing it through my nostrils have already gotten rid of that 'stuffed up' feeling in my head."

W. F. Lakin, 30 Robertson St., Quincy, Mass., says—"I have had hay fever so badly my eyelids would swell up and the air passages and mucous membrane of my nostrils and head became so inflamed I could not breathe when I tried to sleep. I finally found that inhaling that liquid X-Zalia freed me from such attacks."

Whether it is hay fever, rose cold or head catarrh, simply inhale this liquid up the nostrils and you get certain relief. A large bottle costs you but 50c at any druggist. Try it.

PRISON DOORS OPEN TO MME. DISS DE BAR

English Authorities Grant Queen of Confidence Women a Ticket of Leave.

TERM WAS SEVEN YEARS

Convicted of Swindling by Fortune Telling and Luring Girls.

HER REMARKABLE RECORD

First Known by Her Swindle of Lawyer Marsh, She Has Been Long in Public Eye.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—Mme. Ann O'Delia Diss De Bar, whose doings for a number of years filled the press reports of two hemispheres, and who was sentenced to seven years' penal servitude in the Aylesbury prison in December, 1901, under the name of Laura Tackson, has been released under ticket-of-leave. The shortening of her sentence is due to good behavior.

While she has a police record in many European and American cities and has practiced many frauds under the guise of spiritualism and other cults, the crime for which she and her husband were convicted was conspiracy to defraud young women of money and jewelry by pretended fortune-telling and alluring young girls in a pseudo-religious net.

Mme. Diss De Bar is the daughter of an American, J. C. Soloman, and a Kentuckian by birth. She is a woman of many strange cults, but gained her first and greatest notoriety in her swindling Luther R. Marsh, a famous New York lawyer, by spirit paintings. That was 17 years ago. At that time she presided over Lawyer Marsh's Temple of Truth in a luxuriantly appointed home on Madison avenue, New York City. Since that time the woman has led a strange and checkered career of days in Jail, weeks at fashionable hotels and a season of occult performances to draw ducats from the pockets of South African millionaires.

Some five years ago Diss De Barr went to London under the name of "Helena." She was a reincarnation of Helen of Troy. Along with her was Horos, the old Greek god, otherwise Jackson, the fourth husband of Diss De Barr. Matrimonial advertisements were inserted in the papers by the pair. Young women, who responded, were initiated into the cult of Theocratic Unity.

Wierd ceremonies were used and terrible oaths taken. After that the first rite of the cult was celebrated by the laying down by the converts of all their cash and jewelry upon the altar of Theocratic Unity. Diss De Barr claimed to be able to read souls. Finally the secret of Thecratic Unity was taken in charge by London police. Grave charges are made against Jackson in connection with the affair, and Diss De Barr was accused as an accessory in all the charges.

The Case of Marsh.

Luter R. Marsh was a well-known and wealthy New York lawyer, with leanings toward spiritualism. He had been the intimate associate of Daniel Webster and was noted for his acute mind and great legal abilities.

Diss De Bar persuaded Mr. Marsh that she could materialize the dead, call up spirits of old masters, who painted pictures before his eyes, and bring communications from the spirit world. Along with her husband, Gen. Diss De Bar, a man named Lawrence, his grown son and Diss De Bar's two children, she took up her residence in Luther R. Marsh's handsome home on Madison avenue. All dined sumptuously every day, wore handsome clothes, drove out in carriages, entertained friends—and Luther R. Marsh paid the bills. Mr. Marsh also deeded the house to Ann O'Delia Diss De Bar to be a perpetual Temple of Truth. He paid Diss De Bar's debts and spent thousands of dollars on her whims.

On all other topics Mr. Marsh displayed the keen judgment of a trained lawyer, meantime carrying on a great law practice and handling large estates for others. Adelaide Neilson, the dead actress, was his patron saint, according to Diss de Bar. Diss de Bar at that time used to annoy the widow of Gen. Barrios, living in New York, with harrowing messages from the spirit land.

One day, nettled by the criticisms, Luther Marsh invited all the newspapers of New York to send representatives to his home to examine the spirit-painted masterpieces and to witness Diss de Bar's performances as a medium. The result was an exposure of all of Diss de Bar's dealings with the famous lawyer. The Bar Association took up the matter, and Diss de Bar and her associates were arrested. Mr. Marsh came home one evening to find his house deserted, save by the two little children of Diss de Bar, of whom he was as fond as a grandfather. He cried like a child, and refused to be comforted. Howe & Hummel prosecuted the case against Diss de Bar, and finally she was sent to Jail for six months.

Her Early Life.

Diss De Bar has always claimed to be the daughter of the dancer, Lola Montez, and Ludwig I of Bavaria. At the Marsh trial it was pretty well established that she is the daughter of John C. Saloman, a Kentuckian. Her story that she spent six years of her early life on the "frontier confines dividing India from China" appears also to be mythical. At the height of her fame, Diss De Bar was a very fat, coarse-featured woman, with harsh, red hair and shiny complexion. She appeared really to possess some mysterious hypnotic influence over many people. She has been married four times to husbands in the following order: Paul N. Messant, 1872; "Gen." Diss De Bar, 1879; W. J. McGowan, 1895, and Frank P. Jackson, 1898.

After the Marsh trial Diss de Bar one day bade a solemn farewell to the General at Jersey City and disappeared from a ferryboat. A blonde wig floating on the water convinced the General and other friends that she was dead. In a few months she reappeared as a practitioner of the occult and a forgetter of board bills in Brooklyn. About that time she trod the stage of a Harlem theater as Cupid (weight 250 pounds) attired in pink tights. The roar from the audience which greeted her is said to have been the bitterest thing to Diss de Bar in all her career.

Next, under the name of Vera Ava, she came to light in a dazed state in Cincinnati, claiming to have been kidnapped by clerical enemies in Chicago. Police found nothing in her stories. She married W. J. McGowan, a very old and rich merchant of Chicago, in 1895. Not long afterward one of them got a divorce and Diss de Bar again married a young man by the name of Jackson. They went to Florida and started a "Fruitarian" colony of converts, who lived on fruit and laid their cash upon the altar of friendship. During one of her trips West, Diss de Bar was convicted of fraud in a jewelry deal and served a year in jail in Illinois. She and Jackson then went to South Africa. Under the hypnotic influence of Diss de Bar a wealthy Capetown contractor gave his money to establish a colony of brotherly love.

Abandoning the field of occultism in South Africa, Diss de Bar went to London as Helen of Troy.

Record in Missouri.

Diss de Bar has a Missouri record. In 1886 she arrived in Kansas City from Denver, accompanied by Mrs. Dr. Cutler, also a medium. They gave seances, a feature of which was the instantaneous appearance of likenesses of dead relatives of those present. A couple of weeks after their arrival Mme. Diss de Bar was thrown from a buggy and received a bad scalp wound. One day the nurse left her while she went into the kitchen. Mme. Diss de Bar was clad only in a night dress and a pair of opera slippers. When the nurse returned Mme. Diss de Bar had disappeared. She appeared later in a drug store and was sent home in a carriage.

After her recovery she soon fell into disrepute among the attendants at her seances by the exposure of a feat to extort money from the Rev. Robert Laird Collier, who, among others, had gone to her seances, first out of curiosity, and had afterward become infatuated with the mystery of her performances. Mme. Diss de Bar finally left Kansas City in straitened circumstances and her immediate destination was not known.

At one time Mme. Diss de Bar and Henry B. Faulke, an anti-Blavatsky occult scientist, formed a partnership and succeeded in fleecing many Bostonians. They took up their abode at Onset Bay, Mass., where they formed a colony of select friends and evolved a combination of spiritualism and theosophy. They used an image of Buddha, with which they proposed to establish communication with the Mahatmas.

Diss de Bar married Jackson, her present husband, under the name of Edith Lelitha, Countess Landsfelt and Baroness Rosenthal. They were married in New Orleans, whence they were soon forced to leave.

St. Louis has more Post-Dispatch readers every day than it has homes.

SIX NEW ENGINE HOUSES.

Chief Swingley Will Urge Department Expansion.

When the Municipal Assembly convenes Sept. 7, Chief Swingley will present a request for improvements in the fire department in accordance with the provision of the bond issue ordinance that $250,000 in bonds may be issued for that purpose. He suggests that five new houses be built and that two be reconstructed.

The Chief probably will suggest the following locations for the proposed new houses: Ninth and Branch streets; Tyler place, near Tower Grove avenue; Lefingwell avenue and Madison street; Newstead avenue and Natural Bridge road; Newstead avenue and West Pine boulevard or Laclede avenue; Meramec street and Gravois road. The two houses which he wishes to have reconstructed are No. 26, Union boulevard and Cote Brilliante avenue, and No. 37, Broadway and Bittner street, in Baden.

There's a Reason.

From the Yonkers Statesman.

Bill: He used to be a lawbreaker, but he's changed now.

Jill: Keeps within the law now, does he?

Bill: O, yes; keeps within the Jail, too.

Only 15 more Days of our Removal Sale

TIME is growing shorter and shorter--stocks are getting smaller and smaller--prices are dropping lower and lower--in fact, everything is apparently diminishing except the crowds, and they continue with marvelous regularity day after day.

THE sale's importance can best be judged by the remarkable attendance. If it was anything but bona fide, the fact would have been pretty well established by now. As it is, the sale has won the reputation of being the most important mercantile event in St. Louis' history.

THE public expected wonderful things of our Removal Sale, but was not prepared for such decisive measures as we have adopted. Everything in the entire store (with the exception of half dozen trifling items, the prices of which are controlled by the manufacturers) is offered at a greatly reduced figure. Articles that have not been reduced to a final price, are offered at discounts ranging up to 50 per cent.

NOTHING short of the absolute clearance of all lines of merchandise will satisfy us. We want to open the new store with a complete new stock, and are not giving the losses that we are entailing on all lines of goods any consideration whatsoever. You haven't a moment to lose if you want to receive the full extent of the benefits that may be derived from this sale. Stocks, you must bear in mind, are growing smaller and smaller every day.

OWING to the fact that many lines are badly broken and quantities limited, we must refrain from advertising some of the best values for fear of disappointing a number of our patrons. But these goods are all displayed in the various departments and when they sell out they are replaced by equally remarkable values

LOST $97,000 IN BUCKET SHOPS

Embezzling Teller of Birmingham (Ala.) Bank Says He Used Money Speculating.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 14.—Alexander R. Chisholm, paying teller of the First National Bank of Birmingham, and a son of Col. Robert Chisholm, special attorney for the Federal Department of Justice, has confessed to embezzling $100,000 or more. When searched $3000 of the stolen money was found on his person. He acknowledged that the remainder had been lost in bucket-shop speculation.

Warrants were immediately sworn out for W. L. Sims, manager for Gilbert & Clay, stock and cotton brokers, and his clerk, C. M. Hays, and also P. G. Smith, manager of Foster & Co., brokers. The first two were arrested.

It is alleged that his method of looting was for his broker to go to the teller's window at the bank, draw a check for whatever amount might be agreed upon and, in exchange for the worthless check, Chisholm would pass out the money which was to be used in covering margins on his trades. In this way he is alleged to have let Smith have $71,500, while $28,000 went to Sims and Hays. At one time Chisholm was $140,000 short, but he made several lucky plunges in the market and devoted his winnings to paying up his shortage, which he cut down to $100,000.

Chisholm says he began speculating with his own savings, but they were wiped out in a short time. Then he began using the bank's money, only to get deeper and deeper in. For some months he has been engaged in a desperate effort to win back enough money to make good his shortage. Chisholm declares that he did not spend a cent except for speculation and his good habits generally bear out this statement.

Chisholm is 28 years old and has been with Birmingham banks since he was a boy. He was trusted and esteemed by all who knew him. The defalcation has already been charged to profit and loss by the bank, which has a large capital and surplus.

"KEEP CHEERFUL" IS FIRST PRESCRIPTION FOR CONSUMPTIVES

Physicians at New City Clinic Hope to Cure Most of the Patients Who Come to Them, and Instil Confidence Into All Save One Man Who Never Had Disease at All.

Consumptive patients are being treated daily at the City Dispensary in the old City Hall. From 15 to 20 persons are regular visitors at the rooms set aside for the clinic, and new ones are constnatly being added. The treatment, begun less than five weeks ago, is already bearing fruit.

Consumption is a preventable and a curable disease. In the majority of cases it is not fatal. These are the facts with which the patients are first acquainted. Dr. J. H. Scherck, chief dispensary physician, and Dr. L. M. Warfield, his assistant, are in direct charge of the work, and they hope to do good in educating the patients and their families, as well as by actual cures.

"Half the terror would be taken away from tuberculosis if people knew how to guard against it," Dr. Scherck said Tuesday to a Post-Dispatch reporter. "Unless a man is practically dead from it, there is no reason why his condition should not be greatly improved by proper care of himself. In the great majority of cases it is possible to effect a cure. The reason consumption reaps the biggest death harvest of any disease is that people do not observe first principles in protecting themselves.

"The simple rule against expectorating in public streets, buildings and vehicles is the very first to be observed. If that were rigidly enforced, the decrease in the annual number of tuberculosis cases would be astonishing.

Medicine Doesn't Cure.

"When consumptives move they should notify the Health Department. Notice of every new case should be sent to the department so that the premises could be examined. Patients should learn never, under any circumstances, to take medicine without the advice of a competent physician.

"Medicine does not cure consumption. The cure depends upon the strength of the patient to fight the disease—medicine will only relieve individual symptoms.

"If the digestion is strong, the battle is half won. Taking medicine indiscriminately often ruins the stomach and gives the disease a headway that can never be overcome. Patients ought to remember these six rules:

"Keep cheerful about yourself.
"Get fresh air all the time.
Rest when there is fever.
"Never exercise, except when told to do so.
"Eat plenty of good food.
"Never take medicine except when a doctor tells you do so—don't ask for it.

Not Terrible Plague.

"Ignorance kills more persons than consumption itself. By that I mean that, if it were not for ignorance, the great majority of cases that prove fatal would be cured, aside from those that are cured in spite of prevailing carelessness. It is not at all the terrible disease it is popularly conceived to be."

The clinic hours are from 7 to 10 a. m., 4 to 6 p. m. and 7 to 8 p. m., daily, and from 9 to 10 a. m., Sundays.

A small, tired woman, with a lined face and dark hollow eyes, was one of the visitors at the clinic. Her black dress accentuated the pallor of her face. Dr. Warfield touched the feverish wrist and applied the usual tests with the stethoscope, the spirometer, which measures the capacity of the lungs for air, and the cyrtometer, an instrument shaped somewhat like an ice hook, with which the expansion of the chest is registered. The small woman waited nervously for the verdict.

"Not bad," said the physician cheerfully. "When did you first notice the disease?"

"I caught cold, and have been coughing ever since," the woman said. "I couldn't stop it. No, I don't think anyone in the family ever had consumption."

"Dr. Warfield continued plying questions, told the woman her cure was certain if she followed instructions, and she left the room with a shining face.

Young Man Cheered Up.

"A slim, erect young man, with slender shoulders and clean-cut features, said he thought he had contracted the trouble from sleeping in the same room with a consumptive. He did not have the appearance of the tuberculous type. Dr. Warfield told him only a part of one lung was affected. When he departed he was already obeying the first injunction of the physicians—he was cheerful.

A girl with a high pompadour and a thin, pretty face said she had caught cold at a dance more than a year ago and had a hemorrhage last February. Her case was advanced, she was told, but if she was careful there was no reason why she should not be entirely cured. The progress won by months of patience might be lost in a single day, she was told, and she promised with a faint smile not to go to any more dances.

A stoop-shouldered, despondent man of middle age followed the girl. He entered the room listlessly, told of his malady in a monotonous voice as if the questions put to him had been answered often before.

"I've been told several times that I haven't got consumption," he explained. "But I feel sure I have. I cough a great deal at nights, and my lungs hurt. Frequently there is a pain in my back, between the shoulder blades. There isn't any doubt about me having it."

Sick Only in His Mind.

Dr. Warfield looked grave. He made exhaustive tests. He asked the patient questions about the family history of the man, and frowned slightly when told his mother had died of consumption. As the examination proceeded the physician's face cleared.

"Your lungs are as sound as two silver dollars," he said positively. "And get this notion out of your head. It is dangerous."

"Are you certain?" asked the man.

"Absolutely," said Dr. Warfield. "I am as certain as can possibly be on one examination. However, I will be glad to have you continue coming, so I can make an exhaustive test. But it's a safe bet that there's nothing the matter with your lungs."

The man listened incredulously. He departed with the air of one unconvinced.

During two hours the steady stream of callers continued. The majority of them thought they had caught the disease from taking cold, and in most instances the doctor took time to explain that the cold had merely weakened them, so as to make them easier prey to the tuberculosis germs.

Dr. Warfield and Dr. Scherck are making an interesting map of St. Louis from the statistics compiled in the clinic. The location of each case is indicated with a pin.

As yet the map is so incomplete that conclusions cannot be justly drawn from it. All the cases come from the section east of Grand avenue, but this of course does not mean there are no cases west of that line. A little cluster of pins is stuck about Tenth and Market streets, a block east of the dispensary, as a center. Cass avenue, Wash street, Choteau avenue, North and South Broadway, Second and Third streets, all show the indication of tuberculosis cases. In nearly all cases the pins also indicate crowded districts.

BACKACHE?

Pains in the back are the direct result of unhealthy kidneys. And if this important organ of the body is diseased you should "be up and doing."

We imagine we have dyspepsia, heart disease, nervous prostration and a hundred and one ills, but nine times out of ten the real trouble is that the kidneys are so weak and diseased that they are utterly unable to carry the waste matters out of the body, and the uric acid accumulates in the system and slowly but surely paves the way for Bright's disease, diabetes, blood poisoning and a horrible death in convulsions. Ask your doctor if this is not good, solid, common sense.

Warner's Safe Cure

When the kidneys are diseased the uric acid is not carried off, and this causes Gout, Lumbago, Rheumatism of the Joints, Rheumatism of the Muscles, Rheumatism of the Heart, Rheumatism everywhere.

In Bright's disease the bowels are often constipated and the liver torpid. Warner's Safe Pills quickly relieve this condition, and no ill after-effects is experienced.

There is only one remedy that can be used with absolute safety and confidence—Warner's Safe Cure, put up for 40 years at Rochester, N. Y., by the Warner's Safe Cure Company, and sold at all drug stores, 50 cents and $1 a bottle.

Warner's Safe Cure is used by leading physicians, and in hospitals, as the one certain cure for all diseases of kidneys, liver, bladder and blood—the remedy that cures when all else fails, and leaves no bad after-effects. Get a bottle today; it will save you years of suffering.

MRS. HEWSON ASKS ALL CHILD'S TIME

Says Little Girl's Health Suffers From Visits to Father.

PASTOR TO SEEK DIVORCE

Permission Asked to Keep Her Daughter at Hotel Outside the City.

Mrs. Gertrude Hewson, separated from her husband, Rev. Earl Hewson, pastor of the Reber Place Congregational Church, has filed a motion in the Circuit Court to amend the order issued last month by Judge Kinsey in the habeas corpus proceedings for the possession of their 2½-year-old daughter, Gertrude Earl Hewson. Mrs. Hewson asks that she be granted the custody of the child every night in the week. The decision of the Court gave the father custody of Gertrude Monday and Tuesday nights, as well as the days preceding and following.

Mrs. Hewson further asks in her petition that she be permitted to live at the Park Hotel, just beyond the city limits and outside the jurisdiction of the St. Louis courts. She says the child is ill, and that her health will be improved at the hotel.

She also says that it is detrimental to the child's health to be taken each week to the home of her father, who is now living at the home of Miss Fannie Sleight, near Reber place.

The filing of the motion followed the removal of the child Monday by Miss Sleight and another member of the Reber place congregation on an order from Pastor Hewson. Mrs. Hewson protested against the removal of the child, saying it was ill and not able to leave the Park Hotel. The order was in accordance with the privilege granted by the Court, and the child was taken.

Rev. Mr. Hewson recently declared his intention of filing suit for divorce in the fall term of court, and his wife soon afterward instituted the habeas corpus proceedings which resulted in the judicial order dividing the little girl's time between her parents.

LEGAL WAR OVER "KREUTZER SONATA"

Harrison Grey Fiske, Starring Madame Kalich, Fights Blanche Walsh Production.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—The dramatic season at the Manhattan Theater was inaugurated last night by the English adaptation of Gordon's "Kreutzer Sonata," with Blanche Walsh in the leading role.

Late this afternoon an order to show cause why an injunction should not issue to restrain Messrs. Wagenhals & Kemper from performing "The Kreutzer Sonata" was procured from Judge Edgar A. Spencer, by Charles E. Lydecker, attorney for Messrs. Leopold Spacher and David Kessler, who claim to be the sole and exclusive owners of the play and by agreement with whom Harrison Gray Fiske acquired the rights to present the play on the American stage. The order is returnable Wednesday, Aug. 15.

Mr. Fiske had arranged for the production of "The Kreutzer Sonata" with Mme. Bertha Falisci, opening in Pittsburg on Sept. 3 and thereafter at the Lyric Theater, New York, on Sept. 10.

MANIAC FIGHTS ON A TRAIN; 7 WOUNDED

Battle Follows Attempt to Eject Milwaukee Man From Car.

LA CROSSE, Wis., Aug. 14.—In a battle on a train to subdue Louis Felts of Milwaukee, a maniac, seven men were seriously wounded, two of whom may die.

The injured are: Louis Felts, Milwaukee, shot 11 times, may die; W. W. Stubbell, Marshal of Sparta, stabbed six times, may die; H. Cunningham, Oconomowoc, Wis., conductor, stabbed; John Christianson, brakeman, stabbed; Harry English, hand wounded by stray bullet; Alfred Johnson, brakeman, stabbed twice.

Felts was apparently sane when he boarded a Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul train in this city to go to Milwaukee. At Sparta he became violent and attacked Conductor Cunningham, who attempted to eject him from a parlor car. Brakemen Johnson and Christianson went to the conductor's assistance and the two forced the raving man frm the car.

Felts drew a knife and attacked the conductor and the train crew drew revolvers and began shooting. Felts jumped from the train, but was captured by the village marshal after a desperate encounter.

MANY DIVORCE SECRETS WILL BE UNCOVERED

Sealed Records in Cases of Some of Gotham's 400 to Be Examined by Congress.

SOCIETY IS DISTURBED

Names of Co-Respondents Long Hidden Will Become Known to Twenty Clerks.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—There is fear and trembling in many households hereabouts lest the long-sealed secrets of their divorce suits become public. Gossip has always named a co-respondent in each suit when members of the 400 were parties, but as the habit of the fashionables was to obtain a court order sealing all the papers, the names of these disturbers of families never became public. But all this precaution may end in exposure.

Twelve of the brightest and most skillful women clerks in the Department of Commerce and Labor of the Bureau of Census have invaded the County Couhouse, marshaled by William H. Jarvis, and installed themselves in the Surrogate's court. They will hold possession every day for some eight weeks, when the room is not needed by the Surrogate. In that time they expect to go over the divorce records of New York County for 20 years. The evidence is to be used by Congress in its discussion of a Federal divorce law.

When the news spread to the offices of lawyers who have been counsel in divorce proceedings in which the evidence was sealed, after the granting of the decree, there was a great interrogation as to how far the Federal Government would go in its researches. The head of the clerical force expressed the opinion that, as a matter of courtesy, the county would permit the examination of the sealed bundles, which no man outside of the referees and the judges had seen.

Twelve Women Would Know.

Although Mr. Jarvis made it clear that no names were to be copied in the compilation of statistics, the mere announcement that the arena of divorce secrets were to be thrown open to 12 women and eight men created consternation.

The men and women employed in the Census Bureau are required not only to possess intelligence, but a good memory. Every employe is under bond not to reveal information under a penalty of $500 fine or a term of imprisonment, or both. The 12 women and the eight men brought on from Washington were selected with especial reference to their fitness and their loyalty. Most of them are from Southern States and are especially jealous of their reputations for being able to keep secrets. Nevertheless, the attorneys who have family skeletons locked up are averse to any secrets being distributed among 12 women, even if no names should be placed on record.

The making up of the statistical table will necessarily bring out of the secret vault where it was locked up by order of the Court the evidence in the case of Mrs. Perry Belmont, formerly Mrs. Henry T. Sloane, by whom she was divorced in April, 1899. She was married five hours after the decree. The evidence in the case never has been made public. Neither was the evidence made known in the famous Yznaga case, nor in that of Mrs. Reeve Merritt, born Roosevelt, who was Mrs. Schuyler. The papers are as inaccessible as if buried in the catacombs of Egypt.

The love story of Mrs. Elliit Zborowski, cousin of John Jacob Astor, is told in the sealed papers, and how she ceased to bear the title of the Baroness de Steurs. Equally interesting a secret is the testimony in the case of Mrs. Haig, daughter of Mrs. Wm. Astor, divorced from Coleman Drayton. The ramifications in the Drayton divorce action are many, and are known only to those intimately acquainted with the circumstances. Mrs. Bloodgood, daughter of Mrs. Ann Stevens, who ceased to be Mrs. Wm. Havemeyer, furnished no public information in her action.

The most famous cause which will come under the eyes of the Census Bureau examiners, and about which the greatest secrecy has been maintained, is the case of H. H. Belmont's divorce. Society yawned when it became known that Mr. Belmont's beautiful wife—now Mrs. George Rives—was free, and there was not much of a flutter when Mr. Belmont married Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, who had obtained a divorce. But not one line of this tangle became public. The testimony, of course, was taken in each action to comply with the law, but the papers were sealed.

There are a dozen other cases which will pass under the eyes of the women examiners, and they will learn of particulars—and be paid to learn them—which has cost hundreds of thousands of dollars to conceal. Among these will be the testimony taken in the Arthur T. Kemp case. Mrs. Kemp afterward became Mrs. Hollis Hunnewell.

Mrs. W. E. D. Stokes, who was Miss Acosta, noted for her dark, Portuguese beauty and symmetry of figure; the wife of Capt. Phil Lydig is another. In her case society was eager to hear particulars, but not one syllable leaked out and the same is true of Mrs. Donald Swan, who became Mrs. Elisha Dyer. There are a score of other cases of lesser note. The combined wealth of the parties to the actions is not far short of $150,000,000.

The counsel fees paid to prevent publicity were a fortune in themselves.

The examiners will make no record of names—except in their memories.

NOTED LITIGANT DIES IN POVERTY

Henry Marlatt, Who Had Big War Claim, Stricken With Apoplexy.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Aug. 14.—Henry Marlatt died suddenly Sunday night at the home of Robert McCafferty of apoplexy and in absolute poverty. Had not boyhood friends come forward his body would have been buried in potter's field by the Coroner.

Marlatt was 50 years old and a son of James Marlatt, one of the wealthiest men in Pittsburg before the Civil War. James Marlatt owned many plantations along the Sunflower River in Arkansas and had a steamboat line running from New Orleans to this city.

Henry Marlatt was his only son and was manager of his enormous business. The Union soldiers burned every boat in the fleet, togethter with thousands of tons of cotton. All of the plantations were ruined and when the war was over the Marlatts were penniless.

Henry Marlatt's father died during the war and at its close his son presented a claim against the Government to recover $125,000 for the burned steamers. The case was put off from time to time, and Marlatt, who became known as "the man with expectations," lived most of the time off the bounty of his friends. During all these years Marlatt never lost his unbounded faith in and admiration for the Government which has made him a pauper.

UNWRITTEN LAW IN POLITICS WINS

Kansas City Judge Says That a Man Is Loyal Who Votes as He Thinks Right.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 14.—"I want to say that public sentiment all over the country is growing until it is almost crystallized into an unwritten law, that the man who votes for the persons he believes to be the best men for office is the best citizen; and I do not propose to be the first Judge to say that in doing so he ostracises himself from his party and adopts the principles of the other party. I shall not be the first Judge to throw anything in the way of what I consider to be great progress in politics in the last quarter of a century, namely, independent voting."

This opinion of Judge Herman Brumback was delivered yesterday in the Circuit Court.

Judge Brumback was deciding the suit to determine the legality of the call issued by the Democratic County Committee. He was discussing the right of the Democratic committee to disqualify a man from voting at the primaries because he did not vote the Democratic ticket at a certain election.

Judge Brumback said there were many other methods by which the party could determine who were its members.

LOSES GRIP WITH $15,000 IN NOTES

Stockman Forgets Property as He Boards Car for Union Station.

Negotiable notes worth $15,000, a diamond stud worth $100 and a revolver were in a grip belonging to Julius Coppen, a stockman of Elden, Mo., were taken from Beaumont and Olive streets. Mr. Coppen reported his loss to the police Tuesday morning and offered a reward.

Coppen was here on business. When he left a boarding house near Beaumont and Olive streets he carried a grip and two suit cases. He put them on the sidewalk as he waited for a car for the Union Station Monday evening. When the car came he picked up only the two suit cases. He did not miss the grip containing the notes, revolver and diamond until he reached the station.

Several detectives have been assigned to the case.

Lutherans to Buy Church.

The Evangelical Lutheran Altenheim Board is negotiating for the purchase of the Lafayette Park Baptist Church, at Lafayette and Mississippi avenues. The board has already purchased the property adjoining the church on the east, now occupied by the Baptist Orphans' Home, subject to the approval of the Lutheran Synod, which meets in October. Rev. Dr. Frank Taylor, pastor of the Baptist Church, says an effort will be made to purchase a new church site in the vicinity of McKinley High School.

UNIVERSITY MEN FOR LEGISLATURE

Politicians Startled by Proposed Attempt to Control School Legislation.

CROSSLEY OPPOSES IT

Warrensburg Representative Says Undesirable Issue May Be Raised.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Aug. 14.—Reports startling to politicians have reached Jefferson City of an attempt to be made during the next few years of electing as members of the State Legislature from all parts of the State graduates of the State University, with a view to controlling legislation by either passing or defeating bills in which the university is interested.

Politicians from all parts of the State visiting the capital are discussing the reports. Many university men favor the plan, while others, declaring it has many dangers, are protesting that it would be bad policy.

There is hardly a town or village in Missouri which has not at least one graduate of the State University, and if these were to make a systematic effort to send only university men to the Legislature, the successful result of their efforts could scarcely be in doubt.

Leslie Bates, a university man, is behind an effort to strongly organize the alumni associations over the State. His efforts are directed toward a petition to the Legislature to appropriate the $475,000 recently received from the Government toward the erection of an alumni building on the university campus.

Wallace Crossley, member of the Legislature from Warrensburg and formerly a university student, is opposed to any effort to bring the university alumni into active politics. In discussing the matter, Mr. Crossley said to a Post-Dispatch correspondent at Jefferson City:

"Missourians have hardly become accustomed to the idea of the State institutions, especially the great university, entering actively into the political arena. It is beyond question a wise thing for alumni to organize for the good of any institution and we applaud such a spirit of loyalty toward an alma mater on the part of her graduates, but when it comes to organizing the so-called university forces and sending graduates to the Legislature for the express purpose of obtaining additional and increased support for that institution, an undesirable issue is likely to be raised.

"No Need for Such Plan."

"I believe we are all justly proud of the University and that a vast majority of the people are in favor of extending it liberal financial aid such as it deserves, but there appears to be no need for such strenuous efforts as are indicated.

"Suppose the normal schools should organize in like manner and join forces with the proposed university legislators, it is easily seen that the Legislature would be completely under the control of State institutions. This should not be brought about for obvious reasons. Other important interests would in all probability be neglected.

"As for the attempt which will be made by the Kansas City Alumni Association to induce the Legislature to appropriate the much discussed $475,000 now lying in the treasury for a library at Columbia, there is likely to be a wide difference of opinion. It seems to me that it would be far better to divide that sum, or a large portion of it, between the two new normals at Springfield and Maryville, so that they may be built and equipped without dipping into the general revenues at all. Such an expenditure in behalf of the young men and women of the State would be a far more wise use of the money obtained from the Government than in building a memorial library."

NO HOME FOR MUSEUM.

Opportunity to Get Government Building Lost.

The St. Louis Public Museum will not obtain the World's Fair Government Building, as its officers had hoped. Dr. WJ McGee, director of the museum, has been informed that the building was sold by the Chicago Housewrecking Co. as scrap iron to an Eastern concern.

The wrecking company offered to give the steel framework of the building to the museum after it was stripped. It was the intention of the museum directors to accept the offer, and cover the frame and transfer the museum to it. Permission was obtained to maintain the museum in Forest Park.

Owing to delay in obtaining this permission and in raising a fund to complete the building when it was received, the museum officers were slow in notifying the wrecking company of their acceptance. When Dr. McGee a few days ago gave such notice he was told that the company had come to the conclusion that the framework was not wanted and had sold it.

The wrecking company is said to have paid $10,500 for the complete Government building, and to have realized about $65,000 from its sale. The framework would have been worth much more than the latter figure to the museum, it is said.

APPEAL FOR MRS. MYERS.

Attorney Seeks to Have Federal Court Review.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 14.—Robert Ruff, attorney for Aggie Myers, under sentence of death for the murder of her husband, in a few days will apply to Judge Burgess of the Missouri Supreme Court for a writ of error to the Supreme Court of the United States in an effort to have the case reviewed there.

In case of refusal by Judge Burgess to grant the writ, Mr. Ruff says he will ask the Federal Supreme Court to order the case certified there.

The writ of error will be asked on the ground that at her trial Aggie Myers did not have all her rights under the Constitution of the United States.

Fiancee Attends Funeral.

Miss Dollie Mayer, heart-broken over the drowning of her fiance, Clement Staeer of 4614 North Eleventh street, accompanied the parents of the dead boy to Mount Erie, Ill., Tuesday, to attend the burial. The body was identified at the Morgue by a brother. It was found in the river at the foot of Gimblin street Monday evening.

Million Club's Finances.

The Executive Committee of the Million Population Club has passed a resolution explaining how the funds of the club are managed and inviting investigation and inspection of its methods of advertising St. Louis. The resolution, which was passed in answer to criticisms that have been directed against the club, explains that all money paid into the club for advertising the city goes directly to the treasurer of the publicity fund and is paid out only on vouchers properly approved by the president, attested by the secretary and audited by the Auditing Committee.

LONDON PROBES FAMOUS WOMAN WRITER'S DEATH

Mrs. Craigie, Novelist and Dramatist, Found Lifeless in Her Home.

APPARENTLY WAS WELL

Had Just Returned From Visit to Parents in Isle of Wight.

WAS BORN IN AMERICA

Attained Fame and Fortune Under Pen Name of John Oliver Hobbes.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—There is a mystery in the death of Mrs. Pearl Loresa Craigie (John Oliver Hobbs), the authoress, and the Coroner has ordered an inquest.

Mrs. Craigie was found dead yesterday at her home, 56 Lancaster gate, and her sudden end, alone, was a sharp shock, as she was in apparently good health and had had no need for a physician's attention.

For the past fortnight Mrs. Craigie had been with her father and mother at their home, Step Hill, Castle Ventner, Isle of Wight, where she seemed to be in the best of health and spirits.

Her father, John M. Richards, says: "She left us Sunday afternoon to keep an appointment in London. She was then perfectly well and was looking forward to visiting Scotland Sunday with her son. I find she arrived here at 9 o'clock Sunday night. She complained that she was very tired. She had a little refreshment and then went to bed immediately. Her maid, on taking tea to her this morning, obtained no answer when she knocked on the door. She returned later, and, finding the door still locked, entered the room by a side door and found her mistress dead. We did not have the slightest anxiety regarding her health. She did not make a single complaint. The inquest will be held Wednesday. The Coroner has not permitted us to touch the bed or the room. It is peculiarly distressing."

Was American Born.

Mrs. Pearl Mary Teresa Craigie, who wrote under the name of John Oliver Hobbes, was born in Boston, Mass., Nov. 3, 1867, the daughter of John Morgan and Laura Hortense Arnold Richards, and the granddaughter of Rev. Dr. James Richards of New York and Hon. Peter Spearwater, who was a member of the Colonial Parliament at Halifax for 25 years. She was educated in Boston, London and Paris, and at the age of 19 married Reginald Walpole Craigie of an old English family.

John Oliver Hobbes was introduced to the public with the publication in 1891 of "Some Emotions and a Moral," which was followed in turn by "The Sinner's Comedy" in 1892, "A Study in Temptation" in 1893, "A Bundle of Life" in 1894, "Journeys End in Lovers Meeting," written for Miss Ellen Terry in 1894; "The Gods, Some Mortals and Lord Wickenham" in 1895, "The Herb Moon" in 1896, "School for Saints" in 1897, "Osborn and Ursyne," a three-act tragedy, in 1899; "Robert Orange" in 1900, "The Serious Wooing" in 1901, "Love and Soul Hunters" in 1902, "Tales About Temperaments" in 1902, "Imperial India" in 1903 and "The Vineyard" in 1904.

In addition to the list of publications given, Hobbes wrote several plays that were presented on the stage with varying degrees of success, namely, "The Ambassador," "A Repentance" and "The Wisdom of the Wise," first produced at the St. James Theater, London; "The Bishop's Move," produced at Garrick's, in London, and "The Flute of Pan," produced at Manchester, England.

She had some reputation as an amateur musician, and was a member of the Lyceum and the Ladies' Athenaeum and a chess player. She lived on the Isle of Wight.

Something of a stir was made in the religious world in 1892 by Mrs. Craigie's admission into the Catholic Church. She leaves a son, John Churchill Craigie, born in 1890.

On one of her latest visits to New York Mme. Craigie created considerable comment by declaring that the American woman, by keeping out of politics, makes the American man more manly. She had lived for many years in England, where she had seen the activity of English women in politics. Her conclusion was that when the woman begins to take up this particular section of the white man's burden, the man is likely to go to a corner, light his pipe and give her orders.

In other words, she said that Englishmen show a tendency to become effeminate, as the women increase in virility. She feared that the same causes would produce the same results in America, and so she was pleased because the American woman turns her pretty back on the polling place and looks into the milliner's show window.

VEIN GOES WITH APEX.

The St. Louis Mining and Milling Co., in which a number of St. Louisans are interested, has obtained a judgment for $365,000, including costs, in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals at San Francisco, for claims against the Montana Mining Co., limited, an English corporation. The judgment affirms the decision of the United States Court in Montana.

The suit was begun 14 years ago and was then for $6,000,000. The Montana Mining Co. was charged with working a vein of ore which had its apex on the adjoining claim of the St. Louis company. Dispatches state that the Court upheld the apex theory, which is that the owner of a claim on which a vein of ore comes to the surface has entire right and title to all the ore in the vein, and may follow it wherever it may lead on the "dip" or incline.

The Montana company is the owner of the famous Drum Lummon mine, from which $22,000,000 of ore is said to have been taken.

St. Louis persons interested in the St. Louis company are George E. Mayer, secretary; Commodore Herold, J. C. Somerville, James P. Magina and Dr. C. T. Remme.

Do you know that the wholesale shoe sales of St. Louis reached the enormous total of $35,679,926.13 in the year closed June 30, 1906? This fact is shown in a statistical table prepared by License Commissioner Clifford from the sworn reports made to him by the wholesale shoe houses of St. Louis. These reports form the basis for the assessment of the special taxes on merchants in this line of business.

This same table shows that the wholesale shoe business of St. Louis has increased during the past five years $16,778,173. Much of this total is sales of stock manufacttured in this city or in factories adjacent to the city which are owned by St. Louis firms.

The assessment year runs from June to June and therefore 1906 may be taken to have officially closed. The compilation of the data supplied under oath by the great firms who are spreading the fame of this city far and wide is now complete and is comparatively shown in the above table.

During the five-year period several houses have passed out of existence from various reasons, but none because this is not an advantageous territory in which to sell goods. This is affirmatively shown in the table for, while some houses have increased their volume of sales more rapidly than others, all—save one—have increased enormously and continuously.

The increase in five years approximates 100 per cent for all the houses combined. All houses have not increased at the same ratio, but the large majority have shown a satisfying amount of growth.

The Hamilton-Brown company remains at the top of the list, as it was at the beginning of the five-year period under examination. The table shows that this house advanced from sales aggregating $5,500,000 at the close of June, 1902, $8,300,000 at the close of June, 1906—an increase of $2,800,000 on the tremendous total it had achieved at the beginning of the five years.

More remarkable is the advance of the Roberts, Johnson & Rand company from third to second place, with an increase of $5,025,875. In June, 1902, it was assessed on sales aggregating $3,001,419, and in June, 1906, it is assessed on sales aggregating $8,027,296. This is the greatest increase made by any shoe house in St. Louis save the Vinsonhaler Shoe Co., which was just beginning to grow five years ago and has jumped from $67,000 to $222,773.

The Roberts, Johnson & Rand advance was made in spite of the fact that the Brown company, which held the second position five years ago in the year ending June 30, 1906, nearly doubled the sales of the year ending June 30, 1902.

The increases from year to year do not vary so much as one unfamiliar with these official figures would suppose. The period for June 30, 1902, to June, 1903, covers some of the worst days of our latest financial depression, yet the Hamilton-Brown company increased $500,000 in its sales, the Roberts, Johnson & Rand increased $1,000,080, the Brown company increased $518,085, the Peters company increased $680,000, and the total increase was $4,172,512.

In the following year the Hamilton-Brown increased $1,500,000, while the Roberts, Johnson & Rand increased $1,990,800, the Brown company increased $302,473 and the Peters $940,000, and the total increase was nearly $6,500,000.

The year 1905 finds these houses still growing. The total advance for the year is nearly $2,000,000, which is not so great a rate as in previous years. But 1906 shows big advances, which make up for the falling off of the previous period. Hamilton-Brown advanced $500,000 Roberts, Johnson X Rand, $1,800,665; Brown company $505,180, the Peters compan, $900,000, and the entire list $4,245,400.

The glory of it all is that these great houses are still growing and making St. Louis permanently the premier shoe market of America.

CHICAGO FREIGHT TUNNEL IS OPEN

Underground Terminal Facilities Already Serve a Great Part of the City.

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—The freight bores of the Illinois Tunnel Co. will carry merchandise of all kinds in car lots for the first time tomorrow. Announcement to this effect was made by officials of the company yesterday.

This movement will mark the practical completion of the Illinois Tunnel Co.'s system of underground freight railroads, the construction of which was begun five years ago and which has cost its owners about $20,000,000. The company now has 45 miles of tunnel equipped with rails and overhead trolley in the district bounded by Chicago avenue, the lake, Halsted street and Sixteenth street. Fifty powerful electric locomatives and several hundred cars are now ready for use and the company recently placed an order for 500 additional cars and 35 new locomotives.

The company has finished connections with 30 buildings in the downtown district. Connections have already been made between the freight and warehouses of nine of the principal railroads. Others are under way.

GIRLS AS PALLBEARERS.

Wealthy Polish Manufacturer Has Novelty at Funeral.

HARTFORD, Conn., Aug. 14.—Michael Wyler, a machine builder, who died on Saturday, sustained his reputation as a social leader among the wealthy class of the Polish colony in this city by stipulating in his will that none but young women pallbearers should carry his body to the grave.

Wyler was buried yesterday, and, when the undertaker arrived at the house, he was surprised to find eight young women there to act as pallbearers. Six of the girls acted in that capacity and the other two as flower bearers. The services were held in the St. Cyril and St. Methodias Church and afterward the young women, all dressed in white, bore the coffin from the edifice.

USE COUNTY WATER, MAYOR TOLD HER

Woman Tells How She Pleaded That City Supply Be Not Cut Off.

"MAIN" A SMALL PIPE

Resident Says 100 Families Depend on Inch and a Half Section.

Witnesses in the suits against the city to prevent the cutting off of county users of city water, in the taking of depositions Tuesday, declared that conditions attending the use of water supplied by the West St. Louis Water and Light Co. were intolerable.

Some of the statements made by witnesses were:

That the West St. Louis company is attempting to supply 100 families on Plymouth avenue, De Hodiamont, with water through a street main an inch and a half in diameter.

That in an eight-ounce bottle, after settling, six ounces were mud and two ounces water.

That the minimum flat rate offered by the county company is 150 per cent higher than the minimum flat rate of the city.

That the decrease in the valuation of certain suburban property, in view of the threat of the city to cut off water, has already reached 20 per cent.

The depositons were taken before Attorneys George S. Grover and B. H. Charles, the latter represented by P. C. Griffith in Mr. Grover's office, 1116 Lincoln Trust Building.

Says Main Is Small.

Julius M. Garesche of 6217 Plymouth avenue swore that he had seen the mains of the West St. Louis company as they were being laid in Plymouth avenue in front of his residence. He said they were an inch and a half in diameter to the best of his judgment. He said that this one main, one-half mile in length, furnished water for drinking, laundry and all other purposes to at least 100 families.

He said he had a one and one-half inch pipe leading from his tap on the city mains, which is barely sufficient to furnish his 12-room house and a smaller house of his neighbor with water from the city mains.

Mr. Garesche made an investigation into the rates of the county company and those of the city. He testified that the flat rate given by the county is $18 a year, without bath, while that given by the city is $7 a year. By gallons, he said the county rate is 60 cents a thousand gallons, against 20 to 30 cents from the city.

These figures, he stated, he got from the credit sheets of the county company and from the city water rates office.

Edward Flad, civil and mechanical engineer, gave expert testimony. After stating that he had served from 1899 to 1903 as Water Commissioner of St. Louis, he said that the capacity of the city water plant is sufficient to supply all of St. Louis County.

P. J. Crist, a real estate dealer, swore that property values in the De Hodiamont section have dropped at least 20 per cent within the last month on account of the prospective cutting off of city water. He said that it is almost impossible to sell property in De Hodiamont at present. Other witnesses affirmed his statements.

Mayor Suggested Change.

Mrs. Eugene C. Cowan of 6152 Gambleton place told of her interview with Mayor Wells on the subject. She said: "After the first notice, I went to see the Mayor about it. At first he said he had nothing to do with it. Then he asked if we had put in our pipe at our own expense and I replied that we had. He asked me: 'Why not take from the county water company?' I told him that the supply was poor and the water unfit for use, their mains in Gambleton place being only an inch and a half in diameter.

"He said, 'Well, don't bother yourselves about it. You shall have city water until the county company can furnish a sufficient water supply.'"

Water Is Mostly Mud.

Attorney Grover took the stand and was examined by his assistant, J. C. McAtee. After testifying concerning the city's notices, the size of the supply mains of the county company and real estate values, he was questioned concerning the quality of the county company's water. He said: "I had in my possession recently an eight-ounce bottle of water—or whatever you might call that fluid that is supplied by the county company—said to have been taken from a faucet in the Lewis Building. About six ounces of it seemed to be mud."

"What else can you tell about it?" he was asked.

"Nothing more, because I do not use it in my house."

TALK, OR GO TO JAIL.

Frisco Insurance Agent Must Answer Grand Jury.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 14.—Charles Hendry, local representative of the London and Lancashire Fire Insurance Co., must answer all questions propounded by the grand jury or go to Jail for contempt of court.

Such is the judgment of Presiding Judge Graham, before whom Hendry appeared yesterday on a citation directing him to show cause why he should not divulge the names of the companies in London and Lancashire whose policies are reinsured and whose "embargo" on the London and Lancashire has made it necessary for the latter corporation to make a horizontal cut on all policies upon payment.

SHE MARRIED MAN SHE KNEW THREE DAYS.

MRS. CHARLES SUMMERS

WEDS SINGER HE KNEW THREE DAYS

Friends Learn of Summers-Cowan Marriage Two Months Ago.

Friends of Charles E. Summers, attorney and Lieutenant in command of the First Division of the Missouri Naval Reserves, have learned that two months ago he and Mrs. Gertrude Slater Cown, singer and former member of the chorus at Delmar Garden, were quietly married by Justice Campbell of St. Louis County after an acquaintance of only three days. The marriage became known since the return of the couple several days ago from a honeymoon trip through Arizona and the West.

The romance began May 29, when the handsome young woman went to Summers' law office with a letter from a client asking that Summers obtain a choir position in St. Louis for Mrs. Cowan. Summers told Mrs. Cowan to come back three days later. During the interval of the three days Summers went to see several choir managers, but found no place for the young woman.

Mrs. Cowan returned June 1 and Summers, with a down-hearted look, told her he hadn't succeeded in finding a position for her. He proposed that they go to luncheon together and she accepted. Over the coffee cups Summers asked her to be his wife. Again she acquiesced and the trip to Justice Campbell's office was the sequel. Mr. and Mrs. Summers are at home in their cottage at Webster Groves.

Mrs. Cowan's first husband, Edward Cowan, was connected with a St. Louis publishing company. He and the young woman, then Miss Gertrude Lucille Slater of Ottawa, Ill., met when she was singing at Delmar Garden last summer. Cowan lived only three months after the marriage.

SHERIFF ORDERED TO KEEP PIERCE

Attachment Issued for Oil Magnate Said to Be in New York.

An attachment, commanding the Sheriff to take H. Clay Pierce into his custody and safely keep him until Pierce appears before Notary Public Robert Funkhouser and gives his deposition in the $25,000 suit of John P. Gruet against Pierce for salary said to be due, was put in the Sheriff's hands at noon Tuesday. Attorney Funkhouser took the attachment, returnable forthwith, to the Sheriff's office and deputy sheriffs went out to search for the oil magnate, although Pierce is believed to be in New York City.

The attachment was made returnable forthwith, so that it may be in force at any time Pierce is found in St. Louis by deputy sheriffs, who will keep a close watch.

When a Post-Dispatch reporter called at the office of Andrew M. Finlay, vice-president of the Waters Pierce Oil Co., that official refused to be seen. The colored janitor went into Finlay's office, saying that Finlay wasn't seeing reporters, and returned with the information that Finlay wasn't in.

It is probable that another attachment will be issued for Pierce if he does not appear Tuesday afternoon before Clifford B. Allen, Special Commissioner, in the Rialto Building.

Pierce has been summoned before Commissioner Allen to give his deposition with other stockholders of the Title Guaranty Trust Co., whom August E. Brooker is suing.

E. H. Angert, attorney for Brooker, says Pierce left St. Louis for New York last Saturday.

Andrew H. Watson, who served Pierce with the summons, also says Pierce is in New York. He and Attorney Engert say they were so informed by a Waters Pierce attorney.

Dairy Employes' Outing.

The St. Louis Dairy Employes' Relief Association will hold their summer outing at Forest Park Highlands Thursday evening. The theater program will be especially arranged for this occasion, and Miss Wynne Winslow, soloist with Erlinger's "Dearie" Band, will entertain with appropriate songs.

ICE TRUST'S STOCK OWNED BY RAILWAYS

Toledo Baron, Sentenced to Workhouse, Testifies in Government Inquiry.

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 14.—The Government inquiry into the relations between the railroads entering Toledo and the ice companies shipping over these lines began today.

Joseph A. Miller, manager of the Toledo Ice and Coal Co. and one of the men sentenced to the Workhouse for conspiracy in restraint of trade, was the first witness.

He testified that previous to five years ago, when he became manager of the ice company, he was purchasing agent for the Ann Arbor Railroad; but while an agent for the road he had sold ice for the ice company and was paid by the road; that Wellington R. Burt, president of the Ann Arbor road, and Harry Ashley, general manager, were directors of the ice company, and that practically all the stock in the ice company was owned by the railroad people.

He further testified that the office of the ice company is located on Ann Arbor Railroad property and that no rent was paid. The 100 or 125 men sent each year by the ice company to cut ice were carried free by the Ann Arbor road until 1904, when a flat rate was charged. Miller testified that as manager of the ice company he traveled over the road on an annual pass.

Luther Walter, attorney for the commission, stated that those who testified for the Government would be immune from punishment, but if convictions followed the corporations they represented. Over the coffee cups Summers

Will Try to Save Trees.

There will be a meeting Tuesday night of the Civic League of Kirkwood to protest against the action of Mayor Ochiterbeck and the City Council in felling the trees along Main street. The trees were cut down for the purpose of macadamizing the road. The League holds such action unnecessary, and will take steps to see it is not repeated.

BOLLMAN BROS. PIANO CO.

Leave Car at Twelfth Street. 1120-1122 OLIVE STREET.

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH.

Founded by JOSEPH PULITZER. Published by The Pulitzer Publishing Co., 210-212 N. Broadway.

It looks as if the new State of Oklahoma will come in with a lid.

Some trust magnates have not yet lost their contempt of court when the court does not serve their purpose.

Licensed dogs may bite as much as they please and any kind of a bill board may be put up. Is municipal government a failure in the growing city of St. Louis?

THE EQUALIZATION FARCE.

The second year's work of the State Board of Equalization is as poor in performance as it was rich in promise—verbal promise made by the members through the Post-Dispatch. Its equalization of taxes is as much a farce as that of any of the previous boards. The board contains two eminent reformers—Gov. Folk and Attorney-General Hadley, with Secretary of State Swanger, Auditor Wilder, and Treasurer Gmelich, all Republican office holders pledged to reform and make straight the crooked ways of the old Democratic office holders.

An increase of $10,000,000 in assessment is distributed among the public service corporations of the State. To most of the corporations whoses assessments are increased the addition represents a bagatelle which does not cover the normal growth of values. In St. Louis the increase does not represent an equalization of the taxes of these corporations, which have been fattened by the plunder of the public, with the taxes of ordinary property owners. No attempt has been made by the board to tax the actual values of these public service corporations.

The assessment of the United Railways Co, is increased from $17,641,399 to $18,524,554. This increase does not represent a fair estimate of the increased value of the company's property represented by increased earnings. It is not more than half the actual value of the plant and hence represents only a small percentage—much less than one-third of the market value of the securities.

The assessment of the Suburban Railroad, which has been absorbed by the United Railways, is increased by about $7000, the total assessment being far less than the absorption price, which represents a large amount of plunder. The assessment of both companies together is only a little more than $21,000,000, whereas they have been capitalized at over $108,000,000 and are valued in the market at more than three-fourths of that.

The largest increase of assessment is found in that of the Terminal Railroad, which has been increased by about $1,250,000, which brings it to only $5,055,182. The Terminal Railroad authorized an issue of bonds of $50,000,000, asserting that the amount of bonds represented a safe investment margin. Assuming that only half the value of the Terminal Railways property lies on this side of the river, the assessment represents only about one-fifth the total value of the Terminal properties in the city of St. Louis.

There is no evidence in these assessments of a fair and intelligent application of the franchise taxation law of the State, which definitely provides for the taxation of franchises and directs how they shall be assessed. Not only is no cognizance taken of the vast amount of public plunder in these corporations, which ought to be taxed back to the people, but their actual values are entirely disregarded.

How can Gov. Folk and Attorney-General Hadley, both of whom stand for reform and assume to represent the interests of the plain people, justify work of this kind by which wealthy public service corporations holding millions of dollars' worth of franchise values for which not a dollar has been paid, are taxed on a manifestly unfair basis as compared with the taxation of the property of plain citizens? How can the new Republican office holders justify themselves for a victory which represented a rebuke to the old corporation-serving Democratic machine? How can there be any greater injustice than that which permits an escape from just tax burdens of corporations which absorb vast unearned wealth from the public?

As Washington has a larger negro population than any other city, the Vardaman proposal of James Crow cars there may make considerable trouble.

REGULATING BILL BOARDS.

The injunction granted by Judge Douglas prohibiting the city from interfering with the St. Louis Gunning System leaves the city without protection from bill-board monstrosities.

Building Commissioner Smith comments as follows: "Our hands are tied and we'll probably have to do as Chicago is doing under just such conditions. A concern there has boarded up a building right across the street from the City Hall with glaring boards from cellar to garret."

The ordinance declared invalid prescribed maximum height of boards and prohibited the erection of boards closer than 15 feet to the building line where they would become a menace to passers-by.

The decision will not be handed down until the Circuit Court convenes in September, but its terms are known and were outlined in the Sunday Post-Dispatch of August 12. The city appears to be left without any legislation enforceable on the subject.

Whatever the grounds of this decision may turn out to be, it does not dispense with the need of regulation, and when the Assembly again undertakes to pass an ordinance it is hoped it will be so framed as to bear judicial examination. Bill boards are unsightly at the best and may be a dangerous nuisance. There ought to be some expedient to keep them within the limits of decency and safety.

It is regretted that Mr. Shaw did not explain to Mr. McKinley and Mr. Blaine the reciprocity defect.

THE MAGIC OF HAM AND EGGS.

The Post-Dispatch report of the marriage of Miss Emma Shepherd to Mr. W. P. Austin of Watertown, South Dakota, is an authorized and authentic version of the first matrimonial event in the high life of that new metropolis of the Northwest. It appears that when Miss Shepherd arrived from Iowa, she received immediate offers of marriage from almost the entire male population of the town. It is also admitted by almost the entire male population of the town that it is greatly disappointed because these immediate offers were declined in favor of the not less immediate offer made by Mr. Austin.

To explain this, it is stated that she "had taken a course of domestic economy in Ames College." Perhaps this may have had something to do with results, incidentally and remotely. But it is altogether likely that, as the first "real lady" to reach the new metropolis, she could have married right or left throughout the population of Watertown, even if she had never seen Ames College. When it was known that she had arrived; when on the day following it became known that she could fry ham and eggs, subsequent results were a part of the inevitable logic of events.

This is important, in view of the editorials the Boston papers write on the "superfluous female" in Massachusetts, where the superfluous female is a problem which seems to give them continual anxiety if not continual distress.

To dispose of this problem they have only to transfer the superfluous female on a free pass to Watertown and other new metropolises in the Dakotas. If she can cook ham and eggs, a diploma in domestic economy is unnecessary. She will not be objected to as a college graduate. Even Boston spectacles will not keep her superfluous for 24 hours in Watertown after it is once reported that she is a real lady who can fry ham and eggs.

MR. JOHNSON'S PUBLIC SERVICE.

Mr. J. Brooks Johnson has given the Post-Dispatch interesting interviews on the subject of High Finance in St. Louis coupled with naive reports of his own successful efforts to checkmate the schemes of high financiers to "do" the innocent and ignorant outsiders and to take all the fat for themselves. Mr. Johnson's labors have been directed to the demonstration that minority stockholders have rights which the high financier must respect when the stock is in the hands of a man as smart and rich as the financier, and that judgments for damages cannot be juggled out of existence by a consolidation deal when the juggling trick is played on a man who knows the trick.

In his work of defending the rights of minority stockholders and judgment beneficiaries, Mr. Johnson frankly admits that he is not prompted by public spirit nor ethical motive. He freely confesses that his is a case of diamond cut diamond, and that his sole purpose in asserting the rights of the minority and of the damage victims is to squeeze all he can get out of the high financiers whose rich promotion profits are threatened by him. He only wants a share of the spoils.

But despite his admittedly selfish motives and unfeeling methods, he has performed a public service by the frank and free public report of his labors and experiences. He has made it clear that the slaughter of the lambs by the wolves of finance is due to the meekness and timidity of the lambs. He has shown that there is a refuge for the lambs in the law and that the courts will not sustain plundering deals, but will protect the rights of the minority stockholders against the majority led by wolfish promoters. He has proved that a man who will fight for his right to dispose of his property in his own way and at his own price can successfully resist the attempts of financial jugglers to force him to dispose of it in their way and at their price.

All of this is jarring and displeasing to high financiers, but it is good for the public. It strengthens public confidence in the law and the courts. Mr. Johnson has exposed the yellow streaks in our own Napoleons of finance. He has exhibited the jiu jitsu method of bringing them to terms. He has laid bare some sacred mysteries of business. We do not recommend his purposes or his methods, but we do urge those who are threatened with spoliation by financial tricksters to study his exposition of the weak points in the game and of their rights under the law.

Phoebe Couzins now tells us that our Thousand Islands have been made English, and that American money is not to be had there. Is it our fate to be always in trouble about islands?

ANARCHISTS OF HIGH DEGREE.

Anarchy was exemplified by the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Co. when it defied an order of the court to stop charging double fares on the Coney Island line, and brought on a riot.

When the head of a labor union disregards the orders of the court, he is promptly clapped into jail and we hear a great outcry about anarchy and the need of a stricter enforcement of law and order. At such times the loudest noise is made by people like the Brooklyn Rapid Transit worthies. But it is another matter when the order is directed against them. In this case they practiced the anarchy which they denounced when Debs was the offender.

Equality before the law is the rule in this country. But it is a rule more honored in the breach than in the observance when the court seeks to impose it upon the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Co. and other like-minded anarchists. Their notion is that a rule is a good rule only when it does not work both ways. The inevitable consequence is, assaults, riots and general confusion like that which disturbed the peace of a quarter of a million people on Long Island last Sunday.

These are the dangerous anarchists; the men who, accumulating vast wealth by means of special privileges, come to regard themselves as exempt from the ordinary law, "dwelling in a world apart," as Mr. William Nelson Cromwell expressed it in an address to a group of minority stockholders, "higher law" men as Andy Hamilton describes them, or "agents of Providence" according to the pious opinion of Mr. Geo. F. Baer.

One law for all with no exemptions or exceptions—a law for rich and poor alike. Anarchists of high as well as low degree must be taught this elementary rule, even if it becomes necessary to send them to jail.

A 100-story building could be made safe in St. Louis, but the ordinance says that we must not go above 206 feet.

Senator Tillman, who was formerly Governor of South Carolina, declares that he has made himself grayhaired in trying to solve the alcoholic problem. Of what color is the hair of the Governor of North Carolina?

If Mr. Bryan carries out his expressed intention of purging the Democratic organization of men who do not represent Democracy he will perform a hard but useful party service.

BASEBALL DIRGE.

I.

Let hats come off and heads be bowed,
And let the sad drums roll,
The while the rag we call a flag
Hangs half-way down the pole.
Let wailing cries from earth arise
And sunlight fade to gloam,
And bid the thrush its paean hush—
McCloskey's boys are home.

II.

Let Jeremiah's plaint be sung,
And ours the grief of Job,
And be the sack upon our back
With ashes on't for robe.
And bid the somber bells intone
A swan song in the dome,
And with a groan be it made known—
McCloskey's boys are home.

III.

Let dolor pall upon the park
And crepe bestride the fence,
And let us shoot a last salute
To hopes departed hence.
For who to Eastern battlefields
Went cap-a-pie a-roam
Are now returned upon their shields—
McCloskey's boys are home.

IV.

McCloskey's boys are home again—
But not the whole we knew;
They've serried them and buried them
With shrift and small to-do.
But such as live to tell the tale
Are on their native loam,
So bend your shanks and render thanks—
McCloskey's boys are home.

Well Armed.

"Well-uh, now, Mistah Lazzenberry, if yo' please, sah," said a small but determined looking colored man who was discreetly carrying something concealed behind his back, upon meeting in the highroad a broad and tall negro who bore himself with ominous truculence, "dess gimme yo' subdivided contention and don't 'dulge in no onnecessary transplavication twell yo' heahs muh po' and humble specification. WHEN BRYAN GOES WITH COL. MOSE

Written for the Post-Dispatch
By Clark McAdams

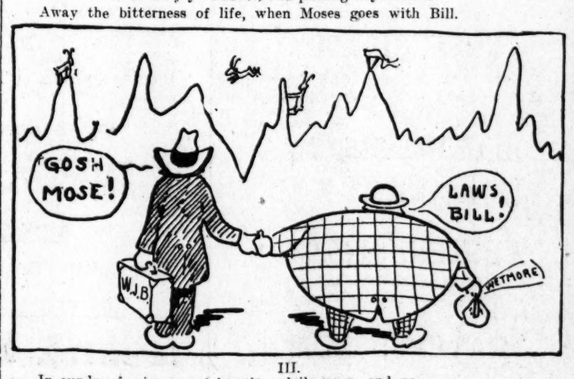

(Mr. Bryan is accompanied everywhere by Colonel Mose P. Wetmore of St. Louis. They are inseparable, and are virtually doing Europe hand in hand. —European Cablegram.)

I.

When Bryan goes with Colonel Mose the newly-wed retreat—
They know a greater love than theirs is passing on the street,
And the tall man and the short man each other's hands enclose—
For Moses is the joy of Bill, and neither ever knows
Another joy completer than when Bryan goes with Mose.

II.

In Europe's scenic places they often go and stand
As David stood with Jonathan—together hand in hand—
And the famed man and the fat man are one in ken and thrill—
For William is the joy of Mose, and passing days distill
Away the bitterness of life, when Moses goes with Bill.

III.

In sundry foreign countries they daily come and go
As Damon went with Pythias so very long ago—
And the great man and the round man are met with many O's,
And many think that Mose is Bill, and many oft' suppose
That William J. is Moses P., when Bryan goes with Mose.

IV.

In summer's starry heavens the Gemini are bright,
And love and sweet companionship are typified at night—
And the bright star and the white star, in solemn night and still,
Go hand in hand as lovers go and will the end until—
As William J. and Moses P., when Moses goes with Bill.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

This column is open for discussion of public questions. Letters should not exceed 150 words.

Municipal Ownership.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The principle of ownership by municipalities of public utilities is not wanting in the laws of Missouri.

By provisions of the Revised Statutes of the State, of 1899, cities of the first, second, third and fourth classes and towns and villages, and cities under special charters are authorized and empowered to own and operate water works, gas, electric and other light plants and power plants. The provisions as to ownership of land within or without the city and incurring indebtedness for these purposes are, generally speaking, the same. It is also provided that cities owning water works may supply other municipalities with water.

By an act of the Legislature of 1903 all cities, towns and villages having a population of less than 30,000 inhabitants, whether organized under general law or special charter, in addition to above utilities, are authorized and empowered to own and operate steam heating plants, telephone plants or exchanges, conduit systems, other public utilities whatever.

At the session of the Legislature of 1905 the bill was passed which authorizes cities of over 100,000 inhabitants to own and operate bridges and tunnels for public uses. It is under this bill, it is hoped, St. Louis will have a free bridge.

Also at the session of 1905 I introduced House Bill No. 746, authorizing and empowering any city, town, village or county to own and operate any and all kinds of railroads within or without its boundaries. This bill was engrossed and was on the calendar for passage when the session adjourned. Its enactment into law would have extended the principle of municipal ownership to all means of transportation, completing the law as to municipal ownership of public utilities, excepting heating plants, telephone plants and conduit systems in cities of over 30,000 inhabitants.

There is no advanced ground on municipal ownership of public utilities on which either Gov. Folk or even extreme Socialists can stand in Missouri. But the Governor's idea of a State Commission of Municipal Public Utilities is advance ground "where angels fear to tread." Where have the pre-election declarations of home rule of the Governor any place in such a scheme? It is reported that he also favors a State Board of Control of the Eleemosynary Institutions and a State Excise Commission and Constabulary. There will be some real work in behalf of the people in the next session of the Legislature to be done if the Governor shall attempt to put into law his ideas of concentration of all rule and power in himself and his bureaucracy. The people will never submit to legislation whose only result would be the creation of a despotic personal political machine and the deprivation of self-government of municipalities.

EDWARD H. BICKLEY,
Member of House of Representatives, Forty-third General Assembly, Fifth District, St. Louis.

Nagging Dogs.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Can you not help in teaching children to let hot, irritable dogs alone? If so, "bites" will be rendered to a minimum. I see this nagging daily and it is only strange a dog puts up with so much; no human being would.

J. A. KENNETT.

One day a young man was cracking up gymnastics, saying that there was nothing more healthy, and that they doubled the length of life, etc.

"All the same," said another, "our fathers did not do gymnastics, and still"—

"Yes," interrupted the other, triumphantly, "and are they not all dead?"—Il Mondo Umoristico.

COL. TODHUNTER

Thurs. T. Will Catch Colonel Bryan's Burning Words Hot Off the Bat at Madison Square Garden, and Will Thenceforth Bruit Them About Without Let or Pause, Till the Last Deaf Ear Shall Hear.

Written for the Post-Dispatch
By Ripley D. Saunders.

"WELL, suh," said Col. Thurs. T. Todhunter, exultantly, "when Col. William Jennings Bryan sounds the Democratic keynote of his two years' presidential campaign at Madison Square Garden in New York City on Aug. 30, I'll be dadblamed if it won't seem like the 'Fiery Cross of Clan Alpine' all over again.

"Me and Dave Francis and other true and tried Democrats will take up Col. Bryan's burning words and spread 'em throughout this great country like scared rabbits, suh, so swift will be our spellbinding progress from stump to stump. It'll be a case of 'Speed, Malise, speed,' as the poet says, suh; 'the dun deer's hide to fleeter foot was never tied'—and I'll defy even Dave Francis to do the dun deer act any nimbler than Col. Thurs. T. Todhunter when I begin my oratorical tour of Missouri in Col. Bryan's interest, suh. I'm just honing for it to begin, suh, and I'll be eternally condemned if I'll take any man's dust when once I get fairly started down the pike, suh.

"Talk about the way the fiery cross of Clan Alpine circulated through the glens and over the crags of Scotland, suh, that won't be a marker to the way this new fiery cross will be displayed to the eyes of the American people, even though Malise did run without any breeches on, suh. Me and Dave Francis and the other crossbearers of this here campaign won't shuck our breeches, suh, but we'll make tracks, just the same. And even that other cross which figured so potently in Col. Bryan's first campaign for the presidency—the Cross of Gold on which poor old Dick Bland of Missouri was crucified by Bryan's getting the nomination—won't go down into political history any more brilliantly than the new one. For that Madison Square welcome to Col. Bryan is going to be the oratorical event of the century, suh, and it'll start Col. Thurs. T. Todhunter and other Democratic spellbinders on a continual round of eloquence, suh, such as the world never listened to before.

"I tell you, suh, there's going to be big doings, and I'm going to be in the thick of 'em if the Good Marster up above gives me the blessing of continued health and strength, suh. I'm training for my speeches now, suh, by going out into the suburban fields in St. Louis County early every morning and giving the old 'Pig-oop! Pig-oop!' hog call that I used to have to holler when I was a boy in Bourbon Center, Kentucky, suh, and dog my cats if I ain't developing a lung power that ain't equaled by anything less than a calliope, suh. You just wait till you hear me, suh—I'll eat my hat if you don't think Col. Thurs. T. Todhunter's natural vocal organs has suddenly been turned into a megaphone with a cyclone wind attachment, suh.

"And it's Democratic enthusiasm that's turning the trick for me, suh—I can hardly wait for the Madison Square meeting that sounds the keynote, and I'm singing 'Haste, Happy Day!' like a nigger preacher at a camp-meeting revival, suh. Just think what it'll mean, suh, when this enthusiasm is intensified by my shaking Col. William Jennings Bryan's hand, suh, as he puts his foot on American soil! I almost bust with emotion when I think of it myself, suh."

GROWERS HEAR OF BIG APPLE CROP

Fourth Annual Congress Begins at Planters Hotel.

GOOD MISSOURI GROWTH

Convention Probably Will Ask Government Inspection of Fruit.

The fourth annual meeting of the American Apple Growers' Congress began Tuesday at the Planters Hotel and will continue throughout Wednesday. H. M. Dunlap of Savoy, Ill., is the president of the congress. Two hundred delegates from various parts of the United States are in attendance and 50 more are expected. Missouri, which stands second in rank of apple-producing states, is well represented.

Although official statistics of the crop in the United States have not yet been prepared by Congress, Secretary T. C. Wilson of Hannibal, Mo., said Tuesday that the crop this year was larger than in many years and the quality of the apple better than in some time. The estimate of Secretary Wilson places the crop at a basis of 65 or 70 per cent, which is said to be unusually large.

The estimate of the shippers' convention, recently held in Chicago, places the crop at 80 per cent in the United States and 65 per cent in Missouri. Secretary Wilson says that the Missouri crop probably will be 60 per cent, estimating the crop in his section of the State, which is around Hannibal, at 50 per cent. The Arkansas crop is said to be about the same as the Missouri average.

The Statistics Committee is composed of J. W. Stanton of Richview, Ill.; L. A. Goodman of Kansas City, U. T. Cox of Rockwood, O.; L. R. Taft of Lansing, Mich., and C. L. Rogers of Bentonville, Ark., representing five of the largest apple-growing States. The committee will go over the State reports Tuesday and reach the final estimate Wednesday morning.

The object of the congress is to deal with national legislation to regulate the size of barrels and boxes that are used for the shipment of apples and other fruits and to promote and exchange ideas of the best growth of their product.

A resolution asking Congress to pass a law providing for Government inspection of apples and all kinds of fruit and for the universal grades of apples probably will be introduced and passed at the present session.

The Congress has recently adopted a uniform size for barrels and baskets, the barrels being of a three-bushel capacity.

G. A. Atwood of Springfield, Mo., said Tuesday that he considered the Missouri crop of apples better this year than in many years. He said:

"There are more barrels of apples in the State this year than I have ever seen or heard of in the State. The crop will have an average of probably 70 per cent. I base this upon the fact that the new trees in the State, which have failed for several years, have a full crop this year. Missouri has more apple trees planted than any other State in America, the number, I believe, being 25,900,000. Benton County, Ark., has the distinction of having more apple trees than any other county in the United States."

Nahan Franko, New Alps Conductor, Reminds You of a Younger Svengali

(As Seen By a Post-Dispatch Cartoonist.)

Swarthy and Fiery-Eyed, He Leads His Players With Vehement Spirit.

When Nahan Franko leads the orchestra out at the Alps, as he's doing nightly now, he reminds you of a younger Svengali. This is because he's so swarthy, so impetuously in earnest, so impassioned and masterful in his control of his players. You see him throw out a commanding hand, you hear a few quick, compelling words—and it wouldn't surprise you in the least if they were those of the hypnotic Svengali: "Play! It iss my vill!"

Dark of countenance as the strange musician of Du Maurier's story, with an upstanding mop of raven hair just temple-tinged with gray, fiery eyes, a big and sensitive mouth under black mustaches, tall, broad-shouldered and lean as an athlete, this man, Franko, certainly dominates his environment. You're a little bit fearful, indeed, that his dominance is too hard for so gentle an art—but this fear vanishes when Franko himself takes his own fiddle, tucks it under his chin and begins playing.

For then you remember the Franko whom you heard as the first violin of the Metropolitan Opera House Orchestra when Maurice Grau was head of that superb organization, the Franko who has won distinction as first violin and concert master under the greatest conductors this country has ever seen—and you know that the Alps Orchestra is safe to attain eminently good results under his baton. Comes to you, also, the recollection of his leadership of the Metropolitan Orchestra last Holy Week in St. Louis, when he conducted two of the five operas then produced under the Conreid management, and you are entirely reassured. After that you study the man without apprehension.

There's one of Franko's tricks that reminds you of Creatore—the way in which he "reaches out" for individual players at critical moments, "lifting them up" to their best by a distinctly personal appeal. It's a curious sort of beckoning with the fingers, the hand stretched forth obviously toward one man, its invitation tensely irresistible—and it attains its purpose. Taken in conjunction with the man's more general watchfulness of the great human organ upon which he plays as its master-spirit, his close and intimate direction of strings and brasses and woodwind instruments, it's all having a marvelous effect on the work of the Alps players. They're keyed up to their highest achievement—and they "stay keyed" with Franko's slender, black-garbed figure in their front.

Don't imagine—if you haven't already seen for yourself—that the new leader is acrobatic, after the manner of some whom we've studied in the past. He may pose ju t a little; he becomes fervent and vehement at times, but he doesn't "skin the cat" or "do the giant swing" or make anything like an animated windmill of himself, and it'll never be necessary for him to change his shirt during each intermission, as they say Mascagni did. And every now and then, as already set forth, he himself becomes a player, and you learn—if you haven't already learned—that he's in the class of great fiddlers. At rare moments, too, he figures as a violin soloist, as in his exquisite interpretation of Saint-Saens' "Le Deluge" Sunday night, whereupon delight fills the souls of the musically elect.

Monday night's program at the Alps was rich in pleasing numbers and Franko was received by his audience with a friendliness born of his initial hit of the preceding evening. The program also served to introduce Genevieve Clark Wilson, a Chicago church choir singer, who made a good impression in two vocal numbers. To night's offering is of uncommon merit, including Gounod's "Queen of Sheba" overture; the overture from Mozart's "Nozzi di Figaro," a "Travlata" number, and two new marches, one by Forni the other by Nowowieski, with Genevieve Clark Wilson also to be heard in one or more songs.

Columbia Theater Opens.

The Columbia Theater opened its new season Monday afternoon and evening, presenting an excellent vaudeville bill. The topline attraction is the hazardous "Globe of Death" act, which was presented here last season by another team and is now thrillingly done by Dr. C. B. Clarke and Miss Bertha Clarke, who do lightning motorcycle stunts inside a transparent globe with apparently the utmost recklessness of peril. The best of the dramatic sketches offered is "A Fair Masquerader," in which Lillian Apel and Frederic Sumner figure, with "The Stage Manager," introducing Bert Howard and Leona Bland, a close second. Al H. Weston and company in "A New Reporter" keep the audience laughing with their breathless work; Carlisle's dogs and ponies appear in an excellent act, Joe Flynn in his "man behind the book" is as popular as ever, and several other features are worth while.

Children's Benefit at Alps.

Nahan Franko, conductor of the Metropolitan Opera House Orchestra of New York, and now conducting the Alps Orchestra, is a great lover of children. When told that the Post-Dispatch was now engaged in a campaign for the poor children of the city, to get them pure milk and free ice through benefit entertainments and public subscription, it suggested itself to him that Sunday afternoon children's concerts at the Alps might swell the fund considerably and give great pleasure to thousands of little ones for whom he will arrange programs suitable to their ages and understanding. In order to make these concerts not only pleasant, but instructive, he will give little talks to the children explaining to them the origin and purpose of the compositions.

This most magnetic of leaders can get down in the happiest way to the childish mind, and parents and teachers of music will find these concerts as interesting and fruitful of knowledge as will the children. The program for the afternoon concert next Sunday, the first of the benefit Sundays, will be announced later, but it is good to know in advance that one of the features of thata concert will be an amusing musical, 'Cat Duet," which is new, and which Mr. Franko will present for the first time for the little ones here.

ST. LOUIS NEW YORK CITY

CORPORATIONS MUST NOW PAY HIGHER TAXES

Attorney-General Says They Are Assessed Like Other Property Owners.

HAVE HAD ADVANTAGES

Former Figures Were Put at About a Third of the Actual Market Value.

INCREASES THIS YEAR

Board of Equalization Found Many Discrepancies on St. Louis Rolls.

Attorney-General Hadley asserted to a Post-Dispatch reporter at the Southern Hotel Tuesday that the property of public service corporations in Missouri, including steam and street railroads, bridges, telegraph and telephone companies, is assessed this year on the same basis as is real and personal property in St. Louis and other large cities of the State.

It has been the custom of the State Board of Equalization to fix the valuation of public utility corporations at about one-third of their value. According to President John O'Brien of the St. Louis Board of Assessors, St. Louis prperty owners are taxed on a basis of approximately 60 per cent of their hoidings.

Mr. Hadley, who by virtue of his office is a member of the Missouri Equalization Board, said that the board took into consideration the low valuations of St. Louis property when it levied assessments for purposes of taxation against the great public service corporations.

"The result of the State Board's work for this year, which has just been announced, shows we added $10,000,000 to the assessed valuations of those corporations," said the Attorney-General. To the assessment of the United Railways Co. of St. Louis we added nearly $1,000,000, while the Terminal Railroad will have to pay taxes on $1,200,000 more than it did last year.

"The aggregate worth of these corporations as computed by the board for taxation is $148,000,000. That represents an increase of about $20,000,000 over two years ago, when the present State Administration came into power.

"After careful inquiry the board concluded that St. Louis property was assessed far below its actual value. In fact, the rate here is not higher than 33 1-3 per cent. We found that manufacturing plants and business establishments generally are assessed below their actual value and rather out of proportion to the home owners. The home owners pay materially more than the wealthy downtown neighbors.

"This is true also of Kansas City, St. Joseph and other cities. In the interior district the assessment is even lower. I should say that farm property is assessed at from 20 to 30 per cent of its value.

Millions Escape Taxation.

"It is a fact that millions and millions of dollars escape taxation in Missouri. The State Board aimed to make just and thorough assessments and not to discriminate in favor of any corporation. For instance, we found that the Burlington road—which appears to have had a political pull in this State in the recent past—was not assessed at its true valuation. We increased the Burlington's assessment $800,000.

"These figures cover the fiscal year ending June, 1906. Since then many of these corporations have shown an increased valuation, as in the case of the United Railways Co., whose common stock has almost doubled in value within the past eight months."

Mr. Hadley has just returned from a six weeks' vacation spent in Colorado. He has entirely recovered from his recent illness and looks the picture of health. He was scheduled to deliver an address Tuesday afternoon at the Piasa Chautauqua Assembly.

To Consider Railway Merger.

Now that he is back in his official harness, it is considered probable that he will investigate the merger of the St. Louis & Suburban and United Railways Co.

"Whether these two companies have a right to consolidate without the consent of all the stockholders in each company is a question," said he, "that I have not considered. The street railway consolidation act of 1899 authorizes the United Railways Co. to acquire all the street railroad companies it wants in the city of St. Louis, irrespective of whether the lines so purchased are independent or competing.

"Until I have made a careful inquiry into the matter, I would be unable to say whether it is up to the State or to the protesting stockholders to take action to prevent the merger."

"How about the reduction of street-car fares? Could that be done by special act of the Legislature?"

"I think so. Five cents is the maximum fare fixed by the statute. If the charter of the United Railways Co. originated in the Municipal Assembly, then that body would have the right to regulate rates. But this question of rates is one that inherently lies with the Legislature."

Trust Question Paramount.

Mr. Hadley said that he intended to make a number of speeches during the fall campaign. The line of demarcation, he added, is not great in the issues presented this year by the Republican and Democratic parties.

"I suppose the trust question will be paramount to all others," he said. "In Missouri we need a law that will send the trust barons to Jail when they violate the law. The Missouri Legislature has done nothing in the last 20 years towards the enactment of such a statute. Our anti-trust law merely imposes a fine on the corporations failing to live up to the law.

"All the states around us have drastic laws covering such offenses. I shall advocate the enactment of such a law from the stump. Besides, it is part of the Republican State platform. The Democratic platform makes no such pledge to the people.

"I believe Missouri is a genuinely doubtful State, and the Republicans are going to win this year. The battle will be fought largely on Bryan's personality and the results achieved by the Roosevelt administration. It will be a contest of performance against promise.

Roosevelt the Issue.

"It is too early to say whether President Roosevelt will be nominated again. But whether he is or not his administration will be a feature of the Republican campaign in every State in the Union.

"The Republicans have nominated an excellent State ticket and it ought to win. I don't see much Democratic enthusiasm anywhere. On the other hand, the Republicans are united and confident of victory."

DETECTIVES' IDEAS OF CROOKS AND CRIME

Man Just Released From Penitentary Went to Four Courts and Is Promptly Nabbed for "Doing Nothing"—Saved By His Mother's Picture But Told to "Move."

A young man walked into detective headquarters Tuesday morning and inquired of Acting Assistant Chief Shannon if there was a prisoner in Jail by the name of Clayton. Six detectives, seeing the visitor, made a rush for him, and, within the twinkling of an eye, he was under arrest and being searched.

"What's the matter with him?" asked an onlooker.

"Why, he's an ex-convict, just down from the stir. Don't you see the clothes he's go on? That's a Penitentiary dressing-out suit."

"But why is he being arrested now? Has he done something wrong since he left prison?"

"No, he hasn't done anything wrong. He just struck town this morning. He hasn't had a chance to do a job yet. He came in here looking for a thief and we nabbed him. It's a good pinch."

The visitor was one Charley Hayes, who was sent to the Penitentiary two years ago from Boonville for stealing a grip. His time was up Monday. He is 23 years old. While in prison Hayes formed the acquaintance of Harry Clayton, a burglar. Clayton was released several months ago and the last Hayes heard of him he was under arrest in St. Louis.

Saved by Mother's Picture.

On his way back to his home in Chicago Hayes thought he would drop off in St. Louis and look up his prison chum. He was so green in crook affairs that he went to police headquarters and inquired for Clayton.

In looking over Hayes' effects Chief Desmond ran across the picture of a grayhaired woman.

"Whose picture is this?" asked the Chief.

"That's my mother's," said Hayes.

That picture probably was all that saved Hayes from being locked up. The Chief told him he would have to catch the first train for Chicago and cautioned him to not go around looking up thieves.

"People wonder why the police are so anxious to pick up men after they come from the Penitentiary," said Desmond. "They preach long sermons about what an outrage it is to keep tab on a man after he has paid his debt to the State and society and all that sort of thing. Just look at that case.

"There's a kid who just got out after serving a bit of two years and here he is going around looking for a burglar pal of his. That fellow's a natural-born thief. Nothing on earth can keep him out of the Penitentiary. Every minute he's away from prison he's away from home. We never pick up a man after he leaves prison without cause."

BUSINESS ANNOUNCEMENTS.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT has signed the bill removing the revenue from Commercial (or denatured) Alcohol. We anticipated this, and are now demonstrating a burner which produces a clean, bright, steady and non-explosive light from this cheap alcohol. We attach our burner to any coal-oil bowl, and with alcohol produce a 75-candle-power incandescent gas light for half the cost of coal oil. It is a perfectly safe light, entirely free from grease or odors, and is portable and handy; everybody wants to buy burners; salesmen want to sell them; we want to manufacture them in St. Louis, under patents owned by the company. We need capital, and offer stock at $1 per share. Our company is bound to do a large business and we want you to investigate this opportunity for a good investment. We simply have the light that makes all others look dim; there has seldom been an article exhibited in St. Louis that meets with so many expressions of approval as this alcohol burner. Call and see for yourself. Demonstration first floor, Century Bldg., west of Postoffice. National Alcohol Light and Heating Co., St. Louis, Mo.

PRESIDENT SUMMONS GREATEST FLEET OF AMERICAN WARSHIPS

Coming Naval Review at Oyster Bay Will Be the Largest Assemblage of Modern War Vessels Ever Brought Together Under the American Flag—Will Cost the People $500,000.

FLEET TO ASSEMBLE ON SEPTEMBER 3.

Battleships, 12.
Armored cruisers, 4.
Coast defense ironclads, 4.
Protected cruisers, 4.
Torpedo boat destroyers, 6.
Torpedo boats, 6.
Submarines, 2.
Auxiliaries, 6.
Troop ships, 12.
Ships, 45.
Guns, 1178.
Officers, 812.
Men, 15,235.

By Wire From the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—The greatest fleet of modern warships ever assembled under the American flag will rendezvous off Oyster Bay and be reviewed by President Roosevelt on Sept. 3. It will be the strongest fleet in tonnage and number of guns ever assembled in American waters.

Orders for the formation of the Atlantic fleet, as this assemblage of warships will be known, were issued at the Navy Department today. The Atlantic fleet will consist of 45 vessels, representing all classes of the up-to-date navy, mounting 1178 guns, commanded by 812 officers and manned by 15,235 jackies.

Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans has been designated as the commander-in-chief and his flagship will be the Maine, which will head the first squadron of the first division as it passes in review before the President, who will be on board the Mayflower.

The last naval review at Oyster Bay was in August, 1903, and cost the Government in the neighborhood of $250,000. The review next month will far exceed the one of three years ago, both in number of warships, armament and cost to the Government. Basing an estimate of the cost on that of three years ago, the present review will tax the people in the neighborhood of $500,000, counting, of course, the deterioration of vessels and machinery. This cost would have to be figured on, no matter where the warships were, but under ordinary circumstances the deterioration would be offset by the additional knowledge the officers and men receive as a result of attending strictly to the naval routine.

In addition to giving the President an opportunity to review the warships, thousands of visitors will be attracted to the village, and every boatman for scores of miles about Oyster Bay will be able to get fabulous prices for the hire of his boat for two or three days.

Thousands of shots will be fired from the six-pounder guns in salutes, and each charge costs 40 cents a shot. In the last review 2604 shots were fired from the six-pounders, and because of the increased number of ships the number will be nearer 5000 this year. The usual wear and tear on battleships is estimated at $9000 a week, while cruisers deteriorate at the rate of $3000 a week. In proportion to their cost, torpedo boats deteriorate more rapidly than any other class. It is estimated that the machinery and hull of these boats deteriorate at the rate of $1200 a week.

The vessels of this fleet will mount 20 13-inch guns, 38 12-inch, 73 8-inch, 12 7-inch, 15 6-inch, 66 5-inch, 32 4-inch and 779 guns under 4 inches.

DIVER BURNED AS HE LEAPS 110 FEET

Flames Penetrate Gasoline-Covered Cotton Through Carelessness.

Thomas Cowan came to grief in Belleville Monday night in the performance before 2000 persons of a spectacular leap from a ladder 110 feet high into a tank two feet deep, swathed in cotton on which he had poured gasoline, and will be unable to repeat the feat during the next week.

As the diver left the top of the ladder he touched a match to the gasoline and it wrapped his figure in flames. He descended head forward, the fire roaring in the draft caused by his swift descent. He struck the shallow water at the right angle, but the flames from the cotton had scorched his neck, shoulders and face, and had burned off his eyebrows and part of his hair.

It was the last performance of a week's engagement at a garden on West A street in Belleville, and Cowan says he became careless. The cotton batting was not fastened tightly enough about his neck, and the gasoline, instead of burning harmlessly from the surface, as usual, penetrated to the flesh.

Cowan was formerly an aeronaut. He has been performing the leap two years and never before suffered an accident.

Saved From Laudanum.

William Mahoney, after a supposed attempt at suicide, was saved from death by laudanum poisoning late Monday night by friends who took him to the City Dispensary. Mahoney bought a phial of earache medicine at a drug store and swallowed a part of this.

LABOR MAKES A GOOD SHOWING

Statistics Show an Increase of Earnings for 1905 Over Preceding Year.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—An investigation by the Bureau of Labor into wages and hours of labor during the year 1905 show that the average wages per hour in the principal manufacturing and mechanical industries of the country were 1.6 per cent higher than in 1904; that the average hours of labor per week remained the same as in 1904, and that 6.3 per cent more persons were employed in the establishments investigated.

As there was no reduction in the average hours of labor per week, the average weekly earnings per employe were 1.6 per cent higher than in 1904.

The purchasing power of hourly wages and also of weekly earnings per employe as measured by retail prices of the 30 articles of food was, it is declared, 1 per cent higher in 1905 than in 1904.

The report says: "As there was an increase in the number of employes as well as in the weekly earnings per employe, there was a considerable increase in the weekly earnings of all employes; or in other words, in the amount of the weekly pay rolls. This increase was 8 per cent in the establishments investigated."

MAUDE FEALY ILL.

Miss Maude Fealy, now appearing in "Mistress Nell" at Suburban Garden, was taken suddenly ill with a malarial attack Monday and was unable to play Monday night. The large audience which assembled at the Suburban was informed that there would be no performance, owing to the star's illness, and money was refunded at the box office. Miss Fealy's temperature reached 104 degrees during Monday afternoon.

It is hoped that Miss Fealy will be able to appear at Tuesday evening's performance, the regular Tuesday afternoon matinee having already been postponed to Wednesday on account of the ball game to be played Tuesday afternoon for the benefit of the Post-Dispatch Free Ice and Pure Milk Fund, in which the Suburban company will participate. In the event that the Suburban star cannot appear Tuesday night, her place will be taken by Miss Perla Landers, who played the role of Moll, the orange girl, in Sunday night's production of "Mistress Nell."

TRACK REMOVAL URGED.

McCulloch Says King's Highway Line Will Remain.

The McPherson avenue car tracks, used by the McPherson division of the Olive street line, will not be removed from that street or from King's highway, says Capt. Robert McCulloch, general manager of the United Railways Co.

A movement to have the tracks removed from King's highway has been started by the First Church of Christ, Scientist, St. John's M. E. Church, South, the Second Baptist Church, and Tuscan Masonic Lodge. The latter two organizations are preparing to erect buildings on King's highway, near the present tracks.

The suggestion has been made that the United Railways Co. abandon that part of the McPherson division and run over the Delmar line to Union boulevard, thence to De Giverville avenue. The Civic League has been enlisted in support of the movement.

DEATH REVEALS MAN'S REAL NAME

Married Under an Alias 30 Years Ago Fred Herring Never Revealed Identity.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

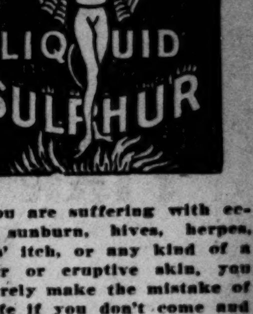

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Fred Herring, 78 years old, of 183d street and Southern boulevard died July 31 of tuberculosis. It was not until today that his widow discovered in going over his papers that the name of John Hamilton, under which he married her 30 years ago, and which he gave to their six children, was an assumed one.

She has found papers showing that he had been a petty officer in the British navy and that he had been reduced to the ranks for some breach of discipline. He deserted, according to evidence found in these papers, and came to this country. He enlisted in the Confederacy and fought throughout the war in the Confederate navy.

When he married her 30 years ago he was getting remittances from home. These continued until a few years ago. Herring never gave his wife or children the slightest suggestion of the fact that he was masquerading and that he had given them a false name.

AUGUST PIANO BARGAINS

If you have been thinking of buying a Piano, Cabinet Piano Player or "Combination Upright Piano" soon, or even six months from now, we state emphatically BUY NOW, for you will probably NEVER secure such a fine bargain opportunity again.

August is our dullest month, and our stock being exceptionally heavy this year, especially of slightly used Upright Pianos, etc., returned from rent by those who have left for their summer vacation, we have cut prices and terms of payment lower than ever before in order to move all goods now on hand to make room for the heavy fall shipments of new instruments that begin to arrive the first week of September. These shipments will be nearly double those of any former year, for we feel absolutely sure the fall and winter trade of 1906 is going to be the largest on record.

We must clear the salesrooms for the new styles. Will you help us and at the same time help yourself to a big saving?

As an example of the great bargains:

We are offering at only $125, $135 and $150 up, nice reliable Upright Pianos and Piano Players, of well-known makes, that formerly sold for $250, $275, $300 and up.

If it is not convenient to pay all cash we'll arrange an easy-payment plan of only $5 or $10 cash, and balance in small $5 per month payments.

Come early and secure your choice. They will go quickly.

DUELS BY GIRLS UNDER THE TREES

Fencing Has Become a Popular Fad at the Piasa Chautauqua Assembly.

STRIVE TO WIN POINTS

Many Young Women Have Attained Much Skill Under Instructor's Aid.

Piasa Chautauqua girls have taken up fencing as a midsummer physical culture fad. Daily duels take place under the trees at the resort. They are not deadly duels. No blood has been spilled but deep dents have been made in the susceptibilities of some of the spectators by the fair fencers.

Persons meandering through the wooded Piasa valley in the middle of the forenoon are startled when they come upon two pretty young women parrying and thrusting as if they hate each other most cordially and thirst for each other's gore.

Friends of the combatants standing by and involuntarily exclaiming as "touches" are made and imaginary blood is drawn, add to the sanguinary appearance of things, and the uninformed spectator is inclined to haste away and call a Chautauqua policeman.

But the duelists are not rivals for the smiles of a Chautauqua man. Unlike most resorts, there are enough men to go around and it is not necessary for feminine friends to fall out on that account. The girls are having a sham duel. They are very good friends and are rivals only in the sense that each wants to make more points than the other.

Foils Are Not Dangerous.

The tips of the foils are rendered harmless by buttons of rubber and the steel is so flexible that it doesn't hurt at all to receive a thrust that would otherwise send a fencer to the cemetery.

Prof. J. F. Mocker, the fencing master, is opposed to pretty girls slaying each other and he is always at hand as referee or umpire or something to avert fatalities.

Al fresco fencing, as the Chautauqua girls fence, is pretty enough to go miles to see. The woodland setting gives the combats a tinge of realism and adds to the picturesqueness.

Miss Dollie McDonald and Miss Treesa Way, both of Detroit, are among the most graceful of the fencers. They are well matched in skill and quickness of eye and it is not yet determined which is to be victor and which vanquished.

Mrs. Lawrence Ewald of St. Louis has been one of Prof. Mocker's most enthusiastic pupils and has progressed so rapidly that she was chosen to appear with the fencing master in a bout on the auditorium platform Monday night in the closing exercises of athletic day. The vim and skill with which she went after the instructor won for her the plaudits of the audience.

Prof. Mocker and Philip Stremmel of St. Louis also appeared in spirited combats with foils and single sticks.

Prizes won in the athletic events in the afternoon were awarded as follows: Obstacle race, Walter Miller first, Groves Smith second; 75-yard dash for boys, P. Calvin first, H. Haynes second; spoon-and-egg race for girls, Lucille Lawrence first, Vera Eastman second; 100-yard dash, Will Mott first, F. E. Spencer second; ball-throwing for girls, Clara Wilhite first, Hattie Schmidt second; high jump, W. Haynes first, W. Mott second; jug breaking for married women, Mrs. L. Bocktest first, Mrs. H. E. Holmes second; broad jump, W. Mott first, W. Haynes second; fat men's race, W. Christie first, H. Brockman second; 25-yard dash for girls, Nellie Palmer first, Minnie Lawrence second; 120-yard dash, F. E. Spencer first, W. Mott second; road race, F. E. Spencer first, Frank Calvin second.

Prof. Mocker was director of the contests. The judges were Philip Stemmel, Herbert Rounds, William Christy and Prof. B. C. Richardson. Charles Van Trees was clerk of the course.

EAST ST. LOUIS HAS A LID YET, THOUGH POLICE ARE UNPAID

Council Deilares There Is No Police Force, and Amends City Dramshop Ordinances, But Chief Purdy Keeps Men on Beats and Mayor Cook Is Ready With State Laws.

According to the East St. Louis City Council, East St. Louis has no police department, and has had none since July 22, the day the "lid" went on. The insurgents so expressed themselves at Monday's meeting when, by a vote of 10 to 4, they passed an order declaring that the Police Department of the city is not recognized by the Council, and refused to vote the salaries of all police and members of the department due since July 22.

In addition to this, the insurgents passed a new ordinance, repealing part of the dramshop ordinance and amending it. This ordinance was introduced by Councilman Kolb, who is agent for a St. Louis brewery. It is intended to take from Mayor Cook the power to revoke saloon licenses and to give the Council sole power to issue and revoke licenses.

Since the "lid" was put on by Mayor Cook, he has threatened to revoke the licenses of saloon men who violate the Sunday closing law. This ordinance is designed to take that power from him. him.

As a further step to do away with the "lid," Insurgent Kolb also presented an ordinance repealing the Sunday closing law, accompanied by a petition presented to him by the representatives of the saloons and brewers, which they say contains 3103 names, asking for the law's repeal.

The petiton was a huge bundle, 240 feet long, and was a combinaton of several hundred petitions which have recently been circulated from the bars of East St. Louis saloons. The ordinance was referred to the Committee on Ordinances for a report at the next meeting of the Council.

Saloon Men Gratified.

More than 100 saloon keepers and brewery agents attended the Council meeting, and frequent animated whispered conversations took place between them and the insurgents.

As soon as the amendments passed the saloonkeepers, with smiles on their countenances, left the Council Chamber.

When the claims and salaries bill was passed, all being paid excepting that of the police department after July 22, the four Cook aldermen had a lively tilt with the insurgents. Alderman Brown asked for the reason of refusing to pay the police after July 22, saying:

"If you fellows hold that you legally ousted Purdy, it was done Aug. 6. Now why do you refuse to pay the police from July 22, when the lid was put on? These policemen were not responsible for the lid going on, and if you want to hold up someone's salary for that, why don't you attempt to hold up Mayor Cook's salary? He put the lid on, and is ready to back it up."

The applause in the audience following this question compelled Mayor Cook to rap his gavel for several minutes before order could be restored.

Regardless of the Council's action ignoring them and notifying them that they were not recognized, the members of the police department were on duty Tuesday. Chief Purdy held his office and issued the orders to the officers and Lieut. Doyle acted as Night Chief until Purdy appeared. They are willing to take their chances in getting paid.

Mayor Cook said to a Post-Dispatch reporter Tuesday: "The members of the Council need not worry about my signing vouchers for the pay of city officials before the salaries are ordered paid by the Council. As I told the Aldermen during Monday's meeting, they had passed a similar order sometime ago, ordering me not to sign such vouchers and refusing to recognize Purdy as Chief of Police.

"The only reason I see for duplicating these orders and long-winded ordinances is to furnish an immense amount of printing for their official organ and to run up enormous printing bills to be paid by the city. I notice that J. W. Kirk was at the meeting yesterday directing the insurgents. The printing bills must be paid to his paper.

Says He'll Keep Lid On.

"I will keep the lid on as long as I am Mayor, and the efforts of the insurgents to raise it will be of no avail. If they repeal every ordinance in the city code, I will keep the lid on under the State laws.

"I did not think they would have the hardihood to try to repeal the Sunday closing ordinance. After their action on that matter, I am almost prepared to see them declare the Supreme Court's decisions null and void.

"I am still here, and we still have our police department. It's their move."

He Has Too Many Friends.

John Reis of St. Louis, in obtaining a marriage license Tuesday from Clerk Coughlan of East St. Louis, gave as his reason for going to the East Side that he belonged to so many St. Louis fraternal organization that he feared an endless charivari if he wedded here. His wife died recently, he said. The new Mrs. Reis was Miss Cora Janhan of Hannibal, Mo., 26 years old. The couple was married by Justice McKane. Louham is 48 years old.

St. Louis has more Post-Dispatch readers every day than it has homes "First in everything."

CEREALS HAVE GENERAL DECLINE

Wheat Is at Low Levels in St. Louis and Other Grain Centers.

TODAY'S SESSION QUIET

Cause of Low Prices Is Lack of Milling Demand and Big Incoming Crop.

Seemingly again under the influence of hard domestic conditions the St. Louis grain market was lower Monday. The influence was general increase in stocks of grain accumulating at the big centers.

Another cause which contributed locally to the decline is the absence of milling demand and the knowledge of many shipments into the new crop districts for moving to market. While the cables were irregular and not influential in governing the price, the Liverpool market was really better than was anticipated.

Upon the issue of the world's visible supply statement which upon its face was bull'sh but which in fact was bearish, as the actual increase the past week was 3,700,000. Wheat, at Chicago sold down to the lowest prices on the crop. September touched 71¼@71¾c, which was ¾c off from last night. An almost entire absence of speculative buying power either local or outside, was the feature.

In the St. Louis market, September wheat closed at 67⅝@67¾c, the opening having been 68¼c. December wheat closed at 71⅜c, the opening having been 71¾c.

September corn closed at 47⅝c, after a day of inactivity. The oats market was also dull, the May option having sold at 43¾c, with no activity in the September and December.

The visible supply of wheat, according to Bradstreet's report, is: Wheat east of Rockies, increase, 3,700,000 bu; Europe and afloat decrease, 2,400,000 bu; total increase, 783,000 bu. STOCK MARKET OPENS STRONG

Western Railroads Make Some Sensational Advances—Industrials in Demand.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—The London market opened irregular and about parity. New York market was strong, with the list as a whole slightly higher.

Among the grain carriers in the West the sensational features were the opening of Missouri Pacific at 96, which was ⅝ higher than the high point of Monday. This performance hardly equaled that of Chicago & Northwestern, the Vanderbilt line west of Chicago, which on three sales aggregating 350 shares jumped from $212 to $213.50 at opening.

The Industrials were all generally higher, with brisk demand. St. Paul opened off ⅛ from Monday's close, while the Harrimans were slightly up. Erie and Rock Island were strong and active. Pennsylvania maintained Monday quotation.

The action of St. Paul stock on the Exchange Tuesday furnished proof of the existence of the very strong influences of work to prevent sensational advances in these securities that might be called "wild" speculation, tending to a movement toward stringency in the money market. In the face of the published report from Seattle of the success of the road in locating its line into Seattle to connect with its $3,000,000 terminal investment there, purchased as a part of the road's Pacific Coast extension plan, the stock fell off a fraction at the opening, and the buying that ensued was without question for No. 26 Wall street, the Rockefeller interest having indicated over a week ago the intention to strengthen its St. Paul holdings in support of the management's plan for independent Pacific Coast extension. To many who have watched intently the movements of the Harrison and Hill interests in their effort to gain control of the St. Paul in the interest of Union and Northern Pacific, the announcement of the completion of the St. Paul plans for coast terminals at Seattle is only one more indication that the battle for the elimination of the St. Paul from the transcontinental field has failed.

The independence of St. Paul, it is understood, means much and was assigned as the reason for the rather phenomenal performance of Chicago & Northwestern, which gained 1¼ points on the first three quotations of the opening. The Northwestern has for many years, under an air-tight traffic agreement, been the Union Pacific connection between Omaha and Chicago and the independence of St. Paul practically guarantees the renewal of agreement, the recent threat of the Union Pacific not to do so having caused the Northwestern to option $5,000,000 worth of terminal property in Omaha, independent of the Union Pacific.

The presence in New York of President Winchell of the Rock Island and his declaration that the crop conditions in the West and Southwest were of the most encouraging character, with the belief that the record for grain tonnage in the history of the road would be made this season strengthened the bank holdings of Rock Island and did not stimulate the selling market. The best information is that Rock Island is being sold for a much greater advance than has been experienced by any one of the grain carriers.

The advance of ⅝ on the opening of Missouri Pacific carried out the impression existing that the stock is on a permanent upward movement controlled by the traffic conditions and the improved physical conditions of the property.

RAVENS LACK PINCH OF CHAMPION SALT

Satisfactory as the Recent Playing of the Team Has Been It Has Not Been of an Order to Encourage Its Supporters to Hope for Ultimate Higher Honors.

After a sojourn of some three weeks in the midst of its friends the Raven baseball club departed Monday night on a two weeks' tour of the East, which will be followed by a trip of similar duration. Thus, with the exception of two flying visits, Sept. 2 and 9, for one-night stands in St. Louis, the club will play on foreign lands until Sept. 17, when it will return to make its final stand and finish the season of 1906 at home.

That this club has a chance for the pennant goes without saying. That it is as strong, if not stronger, than any team in the League save Cleveland, is an indutiable fact and Cleveland is not playing ball just now. That it is a club favored by fortune also goes without saying. The one accident sustained by a player this season—that to Hartzell—so far from working injuriously, or to the detriment of the team, actually operated to its benefit, as it forced McAleer to strengthen it by putting Niles at third base. This move was followed by the best and most successful playing the organization has done this season.

Raven Pitchers at Their Best.

The pitching staff is now equal to that of any club in the country, bar none. Powell, Howell, Glade and Pelty are going finely, have won, are winning and will win. There is no superior catching staff. Niles is doing well at third. True, Hemphill is not hitting. But he will. Therefore Koehler's light hitting is the sole manual weakness of the team.

We have seen this club meet the New York and Philadelphia and compared the teams man for man and whole for whole. Our estimate is that St. Louis has quite as good a team as either of the Eastern cities. Cleveland, fairly the strongest club individually in the league, is not playing winning ball.

The Ravens are some 65 points and six games behind the leaders. In view of what the White Sox have done in Chicago in the last three weeks we must feel that with proper zest and vigor of play the Ravens are not without a chance for the flag or at least a much better position than they now occupy.

Where the Weakness Lies.

Yet truly it does appear that the team is not playing the best of ball. Unquestionably the shift of Niles to third and the retiral of Hartzell is wholly responsible for the recent improvement in play. The club is not playing good ball at the bat. Stone is not hitting up to his spring speed. Hemphil has slumped to a whisper. Jones is hitting cleaner, fairer, harder and in better season than any man on the club. O'Brien has picked up and has been hitting most of the runs over. Niles is doing fairly well. Wallace has improved a trifle. O'Connor is sticking some. Rickey hits at times. But old Jack has it on the catchers for certain hitting.

The pitchers are traveling finely, but it is only when O'Connor is catching that they do their best. Glade did no pitching whatever until old Jack began to work in June. Powell is at a loss throwing with any other man. So is Pelty. Howell pitches his own game and of all the Ravens twirlers alone can do as well with another catcher.

The men are good fielders individually, yet the fielding is not coherent, especially between the in and out fields. There is something lacking in the way of keen co-operative action in this regard. This can be seen from the manner in which Wallace runs out after short flies which are Stone's and how Jones lets those which are his go to Hemphill. It is not a glaring fault, not a very apparent one, but enough to make a false note in the perfect stringing of a lute which expects to charm the ears of its auditors. It is not much, but it may be the fatal flaw.

Team work at the bat is not good. There is at times too much thumb rule and run it by the rule of three. Again, there is too much individual freedom of action.

It is a good team, a coherent team in social intercourse, yet a team lacking an indefinable something which keeps it from performing up to the mark it would attain. It lacks elan. It is shy of the blithesomeness in victory and sullenness in defeat which marks the bearing of individuals and aggregations of championship character. Defeat is accepted too easily, victory brings no exhilaration. Of all the men on the club O'Brien, O'Connor, Howell and McAleer are possessed of the championship spirit which is best expressed by boyish delight and glorious intoxication in the hour of victory, sullen disappointment in the days of defeat. Wallace and Stone and Hemphill and Jones and Niles are fine ball players in a "hired man do the chores up thoroughly" sort of way. Wallace cannot be excelled in his position. He can field, pick up and throw the grounder, touch the runner, take the throw. There he stops. Defeat worries him not. History delights him not any more. He possesses the phlegmatic temperament which does not belong to champions. Stone is afflicted so to an even greater degree. The same applies to Niles and Hemphill, Glade and Powell and Pelty and Smith and Jacobson. McAleer, O'Connor, Howell and O'Brien have the championship quality in them, though manually they are much inferior to some of the phlegmatic members of the club.

It is not much, after all, is it? this lack of spirit which suffers deeply in defeat and expands joyfully in victory. No, it is not so much. Neither is the pinch of salt much in the cup of coffee, but it totally spoils the delightful aroma and flavor of the Javan beverage.

And in this lack of championship spirit you will find the only possible explanation for the failure of this excellent baseball club to do better.

GOSSIP of the Golfers

The statue of The Golfer, presented to Gen. McGrew of the Glen Echo Club by members of the organization, occupies a pedestal on one of the prettiest knolls of the grounds directly east of the clubhouse. It is said to be the embodiment in stone of Jerome Travers, the great Eastern schoolboy golfer.

Mr. Jesse Carleton, who vies with Mr. Sim T. Price for the distinction of being the best of the Elen Echo Club golfers, has been unable to practice for the Western championship on account of a strained back that makes it exceedingly uncomfortable for him to use the clubs.

The interest being taken in golf by the schoolboys of the city is in splendid evidence at Glen Echo, where young Donald Green went around the links in 85 a few days ago. Other good scores that have been recently made by youngsters are Charlie Mansur, 92; Andrew Johnson, 92; Eddie Limberg, 95, and Jack Wall, 96.

The Caddies' Club, an organization formed among the links boys of Glen Echo for the purpose of playing the caddie teams of other clubs, is anxious for another game with the Field boys. Twice have the Field Club caddies beaten the Normandie boys. The first score was 6 down, the game being played at the Field Club. The return match was played on the Glen Echo links, but Gen. McGrew's boys did little better than the first time, being beaten 6 down.

The Glen Echo team is made up of Tim Murphy, Will Preckle, George Wishaw, Jim Gray and Bill Pharrer.

RIPPLES of the Ring

Harry Trendall, Kid Murphy and Owen Pickett, members of the local colony of exponents of the art of self-defense, are summering in the vicinity of Madison, Ill.

Chick Wall, the former 130-pound St. Louis boxer who has been fighting about Kansas for the past month under the name of Walter Bates, was in St. Louis Monday. Wall claims to have won 10 and drawn three battles while in the Jayhawker State.

Billy Rhodes of Kansas City, well known in St. Louis, is to box Joe Thomas of San Francisco Wednesday night at Davenport, Io.

Dan Creedon, a resident of St. Louis when he was an aspirant for the middleweight championship of the world, was beaten in three rounds in Australia recently by one Bill Smith.

Maurice Schneider, the little amateur bantamweight boxer, has begun training for the Western A. A. U. championships, which will be held at the M. A. C. this fall. Schneider has announced to friends his intention of turning professional if his showing at the championships warrants it.

Amateur Notes

The M. A. C. team defeated the Cotton Belts of the Triple A League by the score of 9 to 2. Fitzporter, pitching for M. A. C., allowed but two hits and struck out 12 men. Additional features were the fielding and batting of Frost and Miller. Four new players were in the line-up, namely, Fitzgibbons, Fitzporter, Warner and Lumellius. The M. A. C. team is now leading the league with 12 games won and two lost, and one more winning game will clinch the pennant for them. Samsoury, the M. S. C. pitcher, will officiate in the next game.

The Eagles of St. Louis defeated the Caseyville (Ill.) nine at Caseyville Sunday by the score of 5 to 3. The features of the game were the three lightning double plays by the Eagles.

The Lansdownes smothered the Renkels when the teams met Sunday; the final score was 12 to 0. Asher of the winners pitched a brilliant game.

The Meyer Bros. team went down to defeat at the hands of the Ellendales Sunday, the final score being 6 to 2. The losers made but two hits off of Harrington, who twirled for the winners.

The Marions would like to arrange out-of-town games with all teams playing in the 17 and 18 year old class. Address Frank Decker Jr., 3017 Wyoming street.

The St. Anges defeated the Laclede Gas Lights in a one-sided game by the overwhelming score of 20 to 2.

The North Ends defeated the Portland Hotels in an interesting game at Overbeck's Park by the score of 5 to 2.

The Kollas & Brinkops defeated the Columbia A. C. team in a closely played game by the score of 9 to 7. Topping, of the winners, pitched a good game.

Teams composed of married and single men of the Missouri Quoit Club played yesterday at the former won, 19 to 2, in a one-sided game.

The Autocrats defeated the De Soto (Mo.) team in easy fashion Sunday by the score of 9 to 4.

The Western Willies defeated the Handlan-Bucks in a one-sided game by the top-heavy score of 14 to 4.

By a grand batting rally in the seventh inning, the Multiplex team defeated the New Badens by the score of 5 to 4.

The St. Leos defeated the Washington (Mo.) team in a hotly contested game by the score of 2 to 1. The St. Leos have won nine of the 14 games played.

The Zealands defeated the Missing Links in a one-sided game by the score of 9 to 0. The winners will meet the Royals Sunday, Aug. 19.

The Ashland Blues defeated the Spauldings by the score of 14 to 12, in a batting matinee. The winners desire games with all teams playing in the 16 and 17 year old class. Address Joe Wilward, 4517 Cottage avenue.

The Old Capitol Ryes have reorganized for the season and would like to hear from all strong teams. Address George S. Smith, 1022 N. Vandeventer avenue.

The Cromins would like to hear from out-of-town teams playing in the 17 and 18-year-old class. Address O. H. Flemming, 1720 Preston place.

Athletic Atoms

Martin Delaney said that Coach Stagg of Chicago University had asked Cotton, the Kansas City distance runner, to attend the Maroon School and had assured him a position on the track team. Delaney considers Cotton the best middle-distance man in the West.

Special efforts are being made by Connie O'Brien, who is receiving entries for the track and field events of the House of Delegates picnic, to get Gwynne Evans, Nig Warner, Bob Branham, Archie Loud, C. M. Forline and Culver Hastedt together in the 100-yard run. At present there is no recognized sprint champion of the city and a race with all these men on equal marks would go a long ways toward giving the winner the right to claim the title.

Secretary Smith of the Triple A predicts that Lou Holland will create a sensation by his sprinting if the A. A. U. will allow him to compete in the Western A. A. U. championship. Holland is past 30 and the encroachments of age probably will retard his speed, as they did that of Frank Velsey and Dute Cabanne, both former sprinters who tried to work out on the cinder path this summer.

Wallace McCargo says that he will resign the position of chairman of the Registration Committee of the Western division of the A. A. U. when the body holds its annual meeting in September. Charles F. Stephens, who has worked long and faithfully for the A. A. U., is the most prominent nominee for the position and it may be forced on him.

The temper of the Giants will not down. Bowerman was put out of the game for disputing a decision after his team was in the lead.

MISSOURI GETS SOME RUGBY GAMES

State University Has Not as Heavy a Schedule as Last Season But the Incomplete Skeleton Shows Some Very Desirable Engagements.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Aug. 14.—R. B. Caldwell, manager of athletics at the Missouri University, denied the report that he has been able to close but two contracts for football games this fall and that the game may not be played at Missouri.

"There is nothing to the rumor that other teams are fighting shy of Missouri," he said. "The signing of the contract is a matter of detail that is easily attended to after the preliminary arrangements are made. As a matter of fact, the schdule of games for Missouri University is complete and over half of the contracts have been signed. There is practically no doubt that the schedule as now arranged will be carried out and that all the other contracts will be signed in due time."

No Game for Purdue.

The schedule, while not as heavy as last year's, is more evenly balanced. The Purdue game, which last year sent half of the Tiger team to the hospital, is omitted. To the disastrous effects of this game was largely due the subsequent poor showing of the Tigers. The promise of Director Hetherington last year that the Haskell Indians would be barred is also carried out. Though Missouri defeated the Indians last year, the game resulted in an injury to the little St. Louis quarterback, Reppy, that kept him out of the game during the remainder of the season. It was claimed at the time that Reppy and other Missouri players were hurt by the rough tactics of the Indians, and a large part of the student body protested against playing them in the future.

The schedule contains nine games, six at Columbia and three out of town. Contrary to the rumor which gained credence after the defeat of Missouri by Kansas last Thanksgiving Day, the game with the Jayhawkers is scheduled as usual. It was said last year that Kansas would look to Iowa for an opponent instead of to the Tigers, but that report, along with others relative to the football situation at Missouri, has been proved to be without foundation. The game will be played this year as it has been in the past, is the opinion of Manager Caldwell.

Season Begins Sept. 20.

The season will begin on Sept. 29. The first four games will be with Missouri schools and then the Tigers will go to Iowa City, Io., to meet the team of Iowa University. Ames Agricultural College will come to Columbia the following week and the last contest at home will be with Arkansas University on Nov. 10. The Washington game at St. Louis and the Kansas game at Kansas City will close the schedule. The full list of dates as tentatively arranged is as follows:

Sept. 29—Kirksville Normal at Columbia.
Oct. 6—Warrensburg Normal at Columbia.
Oct. 13—Rolla School of Mines at Columbia.
Oct. 20—Drury at Columbia.
Oct. 27—Iowa University at Iowa City.
Nov. 3—Ames Agricultural College at Columbia.
Nov. 10—Arkansas University at Columbia.
Nov. 17—Washington University at St. Louis.
Nov. 30—Kansas University at Kansas City.

BASEBALL BABBLE

The Ravens entertained a great Monday crowd, the great largest week-day attendance ever seen at a ball game in St. Louis.

Some 43,000 people, at 40 cents a head, gives Mr. Hedges 27½ cents a head, or $12,000 for his "cut" of the four games with the Athletics. Stockholders in the Raven club will receive about 75 per cent on their investment this year.

The spectator who jumped from the stand to help St. Louis players attack Umpire O'Loughlin must have felt like the famous knight who dismounted and entered a house to prevent a husband from whipping his wife, only to have both pounce upon and give him the father and mother of a fair beating. The young man was a friend of Wallace, but Rhoderick was the first to whirl him about by the elbow and kick him to the stand. McAleer took the next crack at him and O'Connor finished it up.

It was not Waddell's fault that four runs were scored off him in the second game at Sportsman's Park. Oldring and Davis made three out throws in that inning. Davis aimed two at Schreck from a distance not 30 feet away and the ball hit the ground 10 feet in front of the catcher each time.

Mack has a jewel in Coombs. A big fellow with a fine face, a splendid delivery and lots of speed. He cannot fail to achieve success.

Niles made a rare game play on a low throw to get Lord at third. The ball came right on the ground and fairly in front of the runner's spikes. Lord slid into Niles' hands just as he got the ball. There was a split, but Henry held the horsehide. It was tenacious and winning ball.

They were pitching Stone curves on the inside of the plate, and he could not hit them. Stone is a murderer of last ones outside, but a pitcher with a good curve and control should eternally keep him from hitting.

Powell had everything and was beaten. Howell had nothing and won.

The White Sox played errorless ball. The Highlanders made three mistakes.

While Shannon was bingling to beat the band, Homer Smoot was swinging his club as of yore. Homer made not a hit, although he made two putouts and an assist.

Sparks was going good Monday and Cincinnati made but two hits. Kelley and Deal were the authors of these.

Ernest Courtney led the Phillies with the willow. Courtney made two hits in three tries.

Chicago and the Highlanders battled a nine-inning tie, 0-0. Chesbro and White were the opposing twirlers and White had much the better of the base hit argument. Chesbro was touched for six safeties, while the Doctor was stingy, the Highlanders making but three. The game was called to allow Clark Griffith's team to catch a train.

Philadelphia's even breaks puts the Highlanders within one point of second place. But five points separates them from first place.

Shannonbrook, an amateur, was tried out at third base by Washington. He failed to get a hit. He handled the seven chances sent his way in perfect style.

A general scarcity of tried and true third basemen afflicts the American League. Nearly every team in it has had a hard time keeping the difficult bag attended to. The Nationals are trying to put Shannonbrook at third base, Philadelphia is trying Lennox and Knight; the Ravens, Niles. Bradley has been hurt and out of the game for two weeks and Tannehill has been sick a good part of the season. Jimmy Collins has plugged up third base with Morgan. Coughlin is about the only consistent third baseman. Sapollo Bill has played in nearly every game.

Moore of Cleveland had no trouble in disposing of the Nationals, and won, 3 to 1. Congalton was the sticking fool. He made two hits in the same number of tries.

Bemis made two hits in three tries. He also handled 10 chances behind the bat in errorless style.

Boston beat Detroit in the last jump Monday. The score was 4 to 3, in Detroit's favor, in the eighth inning. Boston jumped on the failing Siever and hammered out two runs and the game. When the score was hung on the scoreboard at Sportsman's Park it was greeted with cheers, this defeat giving the Ravens a firm hold on fifth place.

Schaefer made a double and a triple in four tries.

SET BACK DATES OF CHAMPIONSHIPS

Amateur Athletic Union Postpones Its Division Competition to Sept. 20.

The Board of Governors of the Western division of the Amateur Athletic Union will meet Wednesday night for the purpose of considering the action of the Registration Committee in postponing the annual championships from Sept. 3 to Sept. 29.

Charles F. Stephens, Martin F. Delaney and Wallace McCargo compose the Registration Committee and the latter gentleman objected to the postponement, claiming the original date should be adhered to, as the A. A. U. rules specifically state that no date shall be changed after one has been agreed upon.

Stephens said this point was but a technicality that would only work to the detriment of the club, and that it was best for all concerned that the track and field championships should be held later in the autumn.

McCargo refused to be convinced by this logic, and when the matter was put to a vote his ballot was cast for adherence to the original program.

Sard Smith, secretary of the Triple A, under whose auspices the meet will be given, is thoroughly satisfied with the new date, particularly as Delaney intimated that the postponement of the date held out some likelihood of the Kansas City Athletic Club's track and field team coming for the championships.

The Giants took two from the Pirates. Shannon led in the assault on Willis, Phillippe and Liefield. Shannon made five hits in ten tries, scored two runs and took care of three chances in the field.

Brooklyn knocked Jack Taylor out in two innings and Overall got on the job. He pitched masterly ball and beat the Trolley Dodgers, 11 to 3.

Moran and Chance led the Chicago attack on Eason. The former made three hits in four tries, while the latter made three hits in five tries.

THE GREAT RUSH OF THE WHITE SOX

Not Since the Days of 1869 and the Cincinnati Reds Has a Baseball Team Achieved So Notable a Series of Victories—Story of the Charge of the Forlorn Hope.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—Not since the days of '69 and the Cincinnati Reds when that team went from end to end of the country seeking whom it might devour, has any baseball club figured in quite such a baseball sensation as that created during the past three weeks by the White Sox of Chicago. There have been many cases where a team has upset the leagues and smashed the slates by a great rally and a long run of victories, but there have been few instances where a team as individually weak and intrinsically feeble as Comiskey's nine has rushed to the front and turned all expectations upside down. The rush of the White Sox through the ranks of the American League has been something beyond precedent or comparison. Small wonder that Chicago is baseball mad today, or that the wild-eyed fans of the lakeside city can see nothing but two pennants, and a mighty battle right at home for the championship of the world.

When the White Sox came home, not so long ago, they were considered down and out, and none of the fans paid any attention to them. The team was entirely too light at the bat, and had apparently ceased to be an active figure in the percentage column. Fourth place seemed as high as the men could possibly climb, and there was much doubt as to whether they could even retain that position against the attacks of Detroit and St. Louis. The club has shown itself much the weakest batting aggregation in the American League, and did not seem to carry nearly enough guns to make a successful stand against the attacks of the leaders. Moreover, Jones and his men were just back from a hugely unsuccessful trip through the East—a trip in which they were simply massacred by Washington and then eaten alive by Philadelphia. Under the circumstances, the fans looked upon them with sympathy and toleration, but decided that the West Side team was the one on which all hopes for glory must be pinned.

How the Sox Were Pulled Up.

The Sox took on Washington as the first candidate for honors after the return, and Washington was trimmed handily. This taste of success made the Sox feel much more like real live ballplayers, and they were lucky enough to have Boston coming next on the schedule. They scalped the tail-enders, and the practice gained from the two weakest clubs gave them the courage and the enthusiasm they needed. They then went at the real things in the game, and the story of their victories over the champion Athletics and the near-champion New Yorks would make a magnificent page in any baseball history.

By this time, right after finishing the Bostons, the Sox were well warmed up, and were playing together in a fashion such as South Side fans had never seen. It may be only a coincidence, but it is a fact just the same that the rise of the Sox dated from the first appearance of Pat Dougherty on the South Side field. Dougherty, supposed to be a good batter and poor fielder—and also generally supposed to be all in as a player—did grand work from the start. While he has not been knocking the cover off the ball, he has been hitting in hard and timely fashion when the hits were needed, and his fielding has been like that of a Lange or McAleer. One good ballplayer, working at his best, can brace up a whole team, and the Sox seemed to rally round Pat Dougherty like soldiers round their flag.

The team play which had thus suddenly developed was turned against the Athletics, and that powerful club could not stand against the pressure. Jones' men outplayed the champions in the most brilliant manner, despite game resistance and great pitching. It became evident in the Athletic series that the Sox had a latent strength which had been lacking all season—two great pitchers who had been classed as failures. It was supposed that Roy Patterson was a good old has-been, carried on the club's payroll for purely sentimental reasons, but of no practical use to the team. It was also believed that Ed Walsh was a flat failure—a big, burly fellow who ought to have made good, but didn't have the material.

How the Sox Pulled Up.

The Sox have gone upward by jumps and bounds. On June 15 they stood sixth and the next week they were fourth. Then they dropped back a peg, but they soon got started upward again, and on July 6 they were fourth again. A beginning of the end was seen when they floated to third place Aug. 7, and the climax came Sunday, when the two leading teams were passed at one and the same fell swoop.

The Athletics have been hitting a .531 pace during the last month and the Yankees .500. The figures at intervals follow:

Date.	Position.	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
May 7	7	8	9	.471
June 8	6	19	23	.463
June 15	6	23	25	.479
June 22	4	28	25	.528
June 29	5	32	29	.525
July 6	4	38	31	.551
July 13	4	43	34	.558
July 20	4	45	37	.549
July 27	4	47	42	.529
Aug. 3	4	52	43	.547
Aug. 7	3	56	43	.566
Aug. 13	1	61	43	.587

Walsh has pitched and won five games since the team came home. Patterson ranks next in the list with four games to his credit, while Owen and White have won three games apiece. Altrock pitched in the only game that was lost.

In making their record of 15 victories out of sixteen games the Sox scored 63 runs to their opponents' 19, made 114 hits to 94 for the opposition and made 17 errors to 21 for the enemy. Six of the games were shut-outs. The figures show that the Sox won purely on merit.

These pitchers, therefore, were not counted on by the fans, and it seems more than doubtful whether Comiskey counted on them. To the intense surprise of Jones, Comiskey and the fans—and especially of the Athletics—these men turned in and began to pitch the grandest kind of ball. Walsh, when worked often, showed that he is the legitimate successor of Amos Rusie. He has all Rusie's strength and speed, some grand curves, a pop-fly ball that goes up for easy catches, and a fine spitball. All he needed was to be worked at regular intervals, and Comiskey decided to work him, with the result that the big fellow became one of the most valuable men upon the team.

No One Can Hit Patterson.

Patterson, meanwhile, rounded into superb form and began to pitch the finest ball of his career—better even than when he won the Sox a flag in the bygone days. With White pitching his usual splendid article of ball, and Owen at his very best, the team became invincible in the slabsmen's department. This heartened up the whole bunch, and they went through the Athletics and the Highlanders like tigers through a flock of sheep. When the hostile pitchers weakened, even for an instant, the Sox were there with quick, timely hits and lightning base running; when the games were hard and close, the Sox tightened up, fielded like mad men and held the enemy until something gave way and the South Siders slipped the winning run over the pan.

In the Sox' half, with one out, Donohue hit out a mighty triple. That put the Sox in exactly the position Philadelphia had just held—a man on third and only one out. The Athletics decided to take the same long chance, and to make it even stronger. Passes were handed to both Dougherty and Sullivan, with these ideas. There might be a double play on the infield; there might be a force out at the plate and a double play to first. There might be simply a force at the plate, and then the pitcher to put out, or the weak-hitting Tannehill might either strike out or raise a feeble fly, thus, again, leaving only the pitcher to be disposed of. It was a daring piece of nerve and of really great generalship, but the Sox were there with superior craft again. Jones drew Tannehill out, and sent up Rohe, a powerful substitute batsman. Rohe crashed his bat against the first ball pitched and the game was over.

In such ways, by grand exhibitions of nerve, pluck and allround skill, the Sox mowed their way to the top, and drove Chicago mad, while the biggest crowds that ever filled Comiskey's park fought like eager wolves to gain admission.
